Mr. Walters enters the administration building for another busy day.

Mr. and Mrs. Walters relax in their Highland Park home.

Mr. Wolters presides over the weekly meetings of the administrative committee—Mr. Zaeske, Mr. Libakken, Mr. Benson, Mr. Wolters, Miss Werhane, Mr. Perry and Mr. Stunkel.

Mr. Wolters proudly displays this award from the Drake Relays Hall of Fame, an honor he attained for setting track records in his college days.

Superintendent Wolters Retires From District 113

In appreciation of devoted service and inspiring leadership in Township High School District 113 for thirty-eight years, DHS pays tribute to Mr. A. E. Wolters.

A graduate of Iowa State College, Mr. Wolters set track records there that have never been broken. In 1927 he joined the staff of District 113. A success in all his endeavors, Mr. Wolters filled many positions in the district before becoming superintendent. He was a mathematics teacher, track coach, adviser chairman, dean of boys and principal at Highland Park High School.

Since 1927, he has seen many changes take place and has initiated many of these improvements himself. Mr. Wolters' retirement ends many years of work as an outstanding educator in our school district.

High School District 113

Two of the many vital functions of the Board of Education are to act on financial requests and set school policy. Mr. Wolters works closely with the board in supervising and carrying out board policies.

Mr. Libakken looks for prospective teachers while Mr. Perry supervises curriculum development. Mr. Zaeske and Mr. Devereaux are concerned with the maintenance of the school buildings and all purchasing in the district. Mr. Wisner has charge of all record keeping and accounting.

All these men fulfilling their tasks have insured the quality of our education.

Changes Made for More Flexibility in Guidance

"Helping students gain self-understanding and the discipline necessary in order to make the best adjustments in life has been the goal of the guidance department."—Miss Muriel Klinge.

The department consists of the individual counseling and the session program. This year juniors and seniors have had more flexibility within their session program. They are given more study halls so that session teachers have the opportunity to work with students individually.

The freshman session helps them become acquainted with school policies and to plan their four years in high school. The sophomores and juniors are mostly concerned with professional and vocational training. The seniors prepare for the demands of college and society.

English Helps Student Appreciate Creative Form

Two major goals are involved in this year's changes of the English department curriculum: Improved over-all view of literature and a program of higher standards for compositions. The first objective is an attempt to minimize repetition, while including all major areas of literature. The second designates as its goal the ability to deal with literature as a creative form.

The senior program of English widens their scope of world literature and also emphasizes an improved quality of the students' writing ability.

In addition to basic curriculum changes, this year has seen extended programs in oral communication. Besides sophomore speech, DHS offers courses in public speaking in such areas as extemporaneous speaking, prose reading and oration.

Mr. Bruhn discusses one of the many revolutions in Modern European History.

Social Studies Revises Present Curriculum

The social studies department tries to cover all corners of the world whether it be in current events or history courses. Its most recent project is to revise and enrich its curriculum so students may take advantage of the important non-western world. Such a study would include many of the newly formed African countries, the Middle East and the Orient. The value of this and of the entire social studies department is to expose students to different types of cultures.

Sociology and economics are also offered in this department. Sociology is the study of man in relation to his society. How man makes a living by satisfying his wants and needs is taken up in economics.

Pete Warburton ponders the relationships between state and federal powers in American Government.

Math Curriculum Follows Modern Trends

Our mathematics department delves into one of today's most important fields. This challenging subject has applications outside of the classroom. It is vital in complicated business science and the industrial world. Many times this year students have had the opportunity to see computers at work. The math department prepares students for the future when they will encounter such new mathematical equipment.

The curriculum is following a modern trend and plans to include elementary computers, surveying, matrices, probability and statistics. Presently offered are first and second year algebra, geometry, trigonometry, calculus and analytic geometry. The advanced placement program is also part of the math curriculum at DHS.

Mike Winkler calculates on a slide rule as a short cut for multiplication and division.

Miss Thiel explains a problem to a first year algebra class as she uses the overhead projector.

Jack Dwyer peers into the microscope looking for bacteria.

A puzzled student queries Mr. Browders about electrons.

Science Has Many Faces

Science at DHS is more than dissections, formaldehyde, analysis for unknowns and clinking test tubes.

Although Darwin's Theory of Evolution, Avogadro's Hypothesis and Einstein's Theory of Relativity seem worlds apart, all are within the realms of science and contained in courses in the DHS science curriculum.

The goal in all classes is to permit each individual who has an interest in science to develop his potential. It is hoped that this will be achieved through the individual's initiative, reasoning and thinking rather than memorization. Provided within the curriculum is the senior science program which enables those students in the advanced placement program to continue studies in biology, chemistry, or physics.

Carol Johnson and Paul Stewart work on advanced placement chemistry experiments.

Business Prepares Students for Later Life

Modern business methods and the complexities of our economic system demand that all schools provide a sound program of business education. DHS has tackled this problem successfully by creating many different sections to its business education department. They include secretarial, which includes typing and stenography; general clerical with courses in sales, bookkeeping and office machines; and college preparatory courses of college typing, notehand and business organization and management.

This department tries to encourage students to develop a sense of responsibility toward active participation in society and to prepare students for entry into the business world. This year the department has helped students in finding jobs related to the subjects they are studying. This helps them to learn while they participate in the actual working situation.

Language Department Employs New Technique

Passing by the special room at the end of E corridor, students hear buttons clicking and voices responding. This is the language lab. It serves as one of the many parts of the language department that contributes to students understanding, speaking, reading and writing a language.

The teachers also interest students in the history and literature of the language they are studying. This is particularly emphasized in the third and fourth years. This year four years of French, Spanish, Latin and German are offered.

Classwork and individual work are equally important as laboratory work. The department emphasizes more outside work as an attempt to promote initiative among the students. As the world becomes smaller, mastering a language is becoming more practical. Through new equipment and techniques the language department is constantly striving for the goals to meet new demands.

Joyce Greenstein works intently on her drawing.

A dedicated art student works extra hours in solitude.

Art Courses Stress Self-Knowledge

Helping students develop an appreciation for artistic principles and history of art is one of the art department's main goals. It also encourages students to develop worthwhile values. "Growing of self-knowledge" is achieved by writing papers in conjunction with paintings.

Courses offered at DHS include basic art, sculpture, painting and crafts. The studio art course is concerned with a philosophical approach to art. Seniors selected for this course work in a free atmosphere and design their own projects.

Giving others a chance to appreciate art is not neglected either. Art students display their work in the main corridor and are given the opportunity to see their classmates' reactions.

Music Brings Enrichment

The music department is one of the most active in our school. With a full schedule of band and orchestra concerts, the Deerfield music festival, assemblies and the Interim League Festival, the music department promises much entertainment for the student body and the community.

In the music department the students are given the opportunity to participate in a performing group. In the choruses the students are helped to develop good singing voices. By participating in band or orchestra the students are able to read good music and develop good musicianship. The music theory class teaches students the fundamentals of music and provides the opportunity to learn to write music composition.

In all of these areas the music department is striving to teach students the importance of music and to lead them toward a fuller life through music as a profession or interesting, enjoyable hobby.

Home Economics Covers Many Areas

Whether it is the aroma of food straight from the oven, the laughter of pre-school children or just ordinary curiosity that attracts a student to the home economics department, she can be assured that she would always find her education in this department useful.

Students find the varied program suitable to their individual needs. The courses offered include interior decorating, family living, nutrition, textiles, clothing and child development. Application of these courses outside of the classroom make them valuable now and in the future.

One of the unique divisions of the home economics curriculum is the nursery school. This gives students the opportunity to observe and work with pre-school children in their study of child development. DHS is fortunate in having a nursery school lab.

Home economics helps guide each student to make intelligent decisions concerning careers, family relations and daily life.

Industrial Arts Builds Individual Skills

In our progressive world and busy society it is important to have an avocation and vocation. The DHS industrial arts department prepares students for this choice by helping develop individual skills.

The department also gives students a chance to view the world technically. The many courses offered allow students to select specific areas to suit their individual needs. Some of these courses are: engineering drafting, architectural drafting, mechanical drafting, metal shop, power mechanics, electricity, electronics and wood shop.

Within the separate courses numerous projects are completed. Many of the projects are entered in a special project fair in Illinois.

Boys and Girls Strive for Physical Fitness

Although the boys and girls physical education departments are separate, their goals and the means for attaining them are similar. They attempt to develop a favorable attitude toward the value of physical development and activity.

In the boys physical education curriculum, a rigorous system of sports and calisthenics has been very successful. The high percentile scores on the National Youth Fitness Test proves this fact. Also stressed is the development of specific skills.

The girls program in physical education consists of field hockey, basketball, tumbling and apparatus, tennis and swimming which is elective in the last two years, and many other sports. The program is planned so each individual has a chance to further develop the specific skill she chooses.

Library Grows With Student Body

The library, one of the most important centers of our school, houses more than just academic books. Once school begins this materials area becomes a place where the student may read leisurely or concentrate on a subject.

Trying to cultivate the arts and sciences and contribute to an understanding of the nation's problems, the library offers a variety of materials. Among those available are books, microfilms, tapes, movies, filmstrips, government publications, pamphlets and paperbacks. One section of the library provides the student with sources about most of the colleges in our country.

The library will continue to grow as our student body enlarges. This year it has met the demands of the students with new systems and additions.

Student Council has many purposes and is an extremely useful organization. Council began its busy schedule by sponsoring the kick-off dance, and followed this by organizing Warrior Weekend. Student Council also organized the School Chest Drive and handled all school elections, the marshal system, honor study halls, and traffic in the parking lot. Many members participated in Student Council conventions and Council Exchange Days with other schools. Among innovations this year are the improved lunchroom situation, music during lunch, a committee to encourage patriotism, one to advance the honor system, and the Student Council bulletin board on which organization news is posted.

Cheerleaders Display Sportsmanship

Enthusiasm, vitality, stamina and a bright smile are all qualities typical of DHS cheerleaders. Their job is simultaneously very difficult and yet rewarding. They must project spirit and a will to win into the crowd, transferring them from mere spectators to members of one team, striving together for a common goal.

Cheerleaders generate excitement that can be felt by everyone present, and when faced with the inevitable defeats, set a matchless example of good sportsmanship.

Warrior Weekend Foster

Deerfield celebrated its second Warrior Weekend on October 23rd and 24th. The pep rally provided a running start for the activities. The sophomores took the spirit jug. The students then ran outside for the bonfire, which was followed by a coke dance.

Saturday's activities included the marching band and twirling corps. The float processional followed, where the sophomores walked off with first prize, seniors second, juniors and frosh placing third and fourth. But the day will always be remembered as the day the Warriors took Maine West 14 to 13. The stands were jammed with students, parents and graduates, all cheering with much enthusiasm, pep and noise. The weekend was topped by the victory dance, "The Foot Ball."

Varsity Gridders Complete 6-2 Season

entertained by zealous fans and record-attendance, the varsity Warriors marched trail to a 6-2 season. Placing second suburban League and naming five men conference team indicates only a portion of the success.

The most satisfying game of the season becoming win over rival Maine West in the game was gained for last year's defeat and subsequent loss of the conference title.

Rushing proved most successful as the Warriors charged 1463 yards, averaging over 200 yards per game. Almost twice the number of points were scored this year as compared to last season's total.

Much to Deerfield's advantage was Coach Kay's use of underclassmen, comprising thirty-seven percent of the varsity squad. Such experience will prove an important factor in the success of following seasons.

Varsity "D" Club

Varsity Club was established on the belief that athletics can make valuable contributions to the development of strong young men, with high standards of conduct and sound moral ideals. Excellence in athletics is rewarded with the privilege of wearing the letter. Varsity Club strives to give this letter meaning. At the same time it functions as a service club to the school and community.

Marching Warriors Provide Music For Varied Activities

Deerfield high school's band has one of the busiest schedules of any organization. It is most familiar to the students who attend the football games, where the band marches between games and during half-time. Their rhythm, bounce and beat do much to enhance the spirit at the games. They also play at the home basketball games and are successful in their endeavor to promote school spirit. Even at away games, a small pep band accompanies the spectators.

The spring concert, Memorial Day parade and commencement exercises fill out the band's schedule each spring.

While providing good music for the student body and community, the band strives to develop and maintain school spirit and enthusiasm.

Exciting Stunts '64 Takes

It was November, Friday the Thirteenth, but far from unlucky for Stunts '64. "Feeble Fables," presented by the senior class, was a tremendous success. The excitement and enthusiasm backstage was electrifying as the clock approached 8:15. Each act anxiously waited for its call; once on stage, all the tedious hours of rehearsal were rewarded by wonderful feelings of accomplishment, and a lot of happiness.

Kathy Kelso, as Mother Goose, took the audience on a tour through Fableland where many tales and nursery rhymes came to life. Original music was written by Larry Rigler and choreography was directed by Stephanie Lutz. Pat Knoll kept the paper work in order as business manager.

The curtain opening for the Big-Sister Little-Sister Tea is the first annual function of this very busy organization. By having a large membership, all the girls in the school, Girls' Club is able to raise money for scholarships for senior girls. This is accomplished through the magazine sale, and the drive and cooperation of all members.

The next big event is the mother-daughter banquet held in December, this year entitled "When I Was Your Age." Following the dinner, the mothers were entertained by the enthusiastic girls of this organization.

February brought the excitement and fun of the spring fashion show. Models included teachers, parents and members of the student body.

Diane Hay, Shawn Dougherty, Cathy London, Marsha Vetter, Nancy Weinberg, and Nancy Sager probably aren't too interested as Linda Frech begins "When I Was Your Age."

Following the fashion show, "Fashions in the Spotlight," Bonnie Gollub, Sharon Dollard and Brian Gunderson enjoyed the refreshments.

Forensic Activities Increase Scope

Speech activities, previously limited in scope, have been enlarged into a complete program for the first year. Students may choose from original oratory, declamation, prose reading, poetry reading, humorous and dramatic reading, after dinner speaking or humorous monologue. Each participant is personally coached in preparation for various contests and activities.

One of the highlights of the year was on February 13 when DHS hosted a district meet of the Illinois High School Speech Association. Other activities included participation in the fine arts festival and speaking at local grade schools. In spite of the great amount of competition in which the students are involved, their ultimate goal is to develop individual speaking talents.

Debaters Research Contemporary Problems

Contrary to popular student opinion, debating is not synonymous with a tirade of prejudiced opinions. Debating involves extensive research, coordination of materials, practice in public speaking, adaption to the opposition's cases and extemporaneous speaking.

Debaters are intellectually stimulated while they gain poise, leadership and an understanding of current topics. A keen insight into contemporary problems is developed by debating national issues, such as this year's topic for debate: International control of nuclear weapons.

After competing in district sectionals, they move on to state competition. At an awards banquet in the spring, varsity letters are awarded.

Mike Stern is going strong in one of the many district debates. Should the goal be for nuclear disarmament?

Chess, Bridge Clubs Promote Skill, Fun

The enthusiasm may become contagious in the cafeteria on Tuesday afternoons as bridge club members play their hands. Beginners are taught the fundamentals, intermediate players are provided with much needed experience and accomplished players have the chance to compete in brisk tournaments and intramural competition.

Students with similar tastes often meet after school to enjoy the challenge of chess. These members play solely for pleasure. Professional instruction is not given, since skill increases only through actual playing experience. The club has been extremely successful in inter-school competition.

Future Teachers, Nurses Anticipate Careers

Future Nurses of America provides the opportunity to learn the responsibilities and rewards of health careers. Helping the handicapped at Grove School, working at a convalescent home and helping at Highland Park Hospital are some ways in which the girls participate in community projects. Speakers at each of their meetings help them in understanding the problems which arise in nursing.

A person listening in on a Future Teachers of America meeting could walk away with many interesting ideas. Regular meetings are only a small part of this organization. Throughout the year special activities are planned around the interests of the members.

By observing teachers, members have learned methods of teaching. At Bell School, for both handicapped and normal children, members have observed special teaching techniques.

Vocal Music Department Adds to School Programs

School programs, assemblies and concerts would have been incomplete without A Cappella Choir. The choir, juniors and seniors who have demonstrated above average vocal ability, performs at many school events and for the community.

Starting with the National Honor Society assembly in the fall, the choir practices for each event on its agenda and ends the year with commencement in June. Junior A Cappella, Freshman Advanced, Girls Chorus and several mixed choruses are also part of the vocal music department and participate in various school events.

Perhaps the most important event this year was the selecting of the new gray and red robes for the A Cappella Choir. Beginning with the Spring Concert, these robes will be worn at all musical programs.

Orchestra Plays Busy Schedule

The DHS orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Spriester, serves a dual purpose: to provide an opportunity for students to practice their musical ability, and to expose all students to the fine arts. This year, emphasis was placed on ensemble technique and the development of various styles, from classical to modern.

The orchestra has an astonishing performance schedule. The fall and spring concerts, the Illinois Music Educators Association Concert, District Festival and graduation exercises are all part of their musical calendar.

American Field Service Sponsors Joya and Jan

Many students use the DHS snack bar without knowing its purpose. Besides providing DHS students with food and a meeting place after school, this is part of the American Field Service Program.

Another important committee of the AFS compiles Dial Data, the student directory.

Through a hospitality committee, the AFS tries to make its exchange students feel at home. One weekend in April, Deerfield plays host to all area exchange students.

Jan Kaplin and Joya Dutta have taken part in DHS activities this year as exchange students.

Math Club Explores Perception of Depth

Mathematics club extends the study of math beyond the restricted coverage of the classroom and textbooks. By taking field trips, sponsoring contests, using computers and sharing knowledge at their weekly meetings, the members of the math club explore the colorful, multi-dimensional world of mathematics.

All the humorous, frustrating and enlightening topics of mathematics, from the simple to the abstruse, even from map coloring to differential equations, are studied with eagerness and perception by the mathematics club.

Science Club Pursues Individual Interests

The major goal of Deerfield High School's science club is to assist interested students in learning more about science by allowing each student to pursue his own path to his individual goal. To accomplish this, the school has given the members of the club the opportunity to use much of the school's scientific apparatus.

It also allows the use of homemade equipment, such as a ninety thousand volt tesla coil which shoots out a perfectly harmless door-penetrating six-inch spark. Many frightened students have been reassured by some of the club's trips to safer industrial and scientific points of interest.

GIMA Offers Girls Many Activities

Girls' Intramural Association encourages each girl to take part in the activities she is most interested in.

Besides providing girls with a chance to enjoy themselves and improve skills, GIMA offers many activities. During the year the club sponsors play-days, fun nights and a tumbling show. GIMA also hosts the annual Christmas turnabout.

The football concession stand is organized and run by GIMA. Proceeds from this project are given as scholarships to deserving senior GIMA members. A bike hike in the spring provides a chance for members to get together again.

Swim and Dance Clubs Present Annual Shows

Whether doing a somer-sub, Eiffel Tower, torpedo or a kip, the talent of swim club members is evident. Swim club provides these interested members with the opportunity to demonstrate their creative abilities in the water through synchronized swimming.

Dance club is composed of advanced and junior advanced dance. Members are required to audition and prove their ability. Both groups perform annually at the dance show. This year's show was called "Prismatic Patterns." Sixteen groups portrayed the moods associated with different colors.

Dance club members await instructions from Miss Toole.

Cagers Finish Season Sixth In Conference

A 5-9 mark in Mid-Suburban League competition placed the Warriors in a group of fine squads. A high point of this impressive season was the 58-56 edging of second place Prospect, a game decided in the closing three seconds.

Emphasizing the team's improvement was the fact that five of the Warrior's losses could have been decided in Deerfield's favor by three or less baskets.

Capturing individual honors for continued excellent play were Dick McDermott, all-conference choice, and Tom Fuzzey, who received honorable mention.

Varsity Swimmers Place Fourth In State Competition

Sweeping their second consecutive Mid-Suburban championship, the DHS swimmers made their mark in state competition. Placing first in the Riverside-Brookfield Invitational, in which this was Deerfield's first appearance, provided an additional award to the trophy case.

Later in the year at Evanston, the hours of practice paid off as the mermen paced the lanes to a fourth place rank in state competition. Leading the team was Bob Kircher, state champion in the fifty-yard freestyle. Other finalists included Randy Pfeiffer, Steve Wainess, Rick Haayen and the freestyle relay team of Bob Broms, Walt Frazier, Jim Morton and Roger Deck. Accompanied by a thronging capacity home attendance, the only losses dealt the Warriors were by the three teams top in state. In the Mid-Suburban Conference the toughest opposition was the formidable Niles North squad.

The frosh-soph swimmers had an equally outstanding year, losing only three meets. With the strength of numerous returning juniors and up-coming sophomores, the Warriors look ahead to break up the trio of New Trier, Evanston and Hindsdale next season.

Varsity Wrestlers Finish District Second

Striving to maintain the fine record set by last year's grapplers, the DHS wrestling team continued its victorious ways. Waukegan's Christmas tournament, hosting the state's top eight squads, found the Warriors finishing a tough fourth. In a similar meet at Grant the wrestling team showed their skill and captured the title.

Throughout the entire season the wrestling team enjoyed an enthusiastic turnout at all its meets. The grapplers compiled an impressive 10-1 dual meet record. The wrestling Warriors capped the season with a second-place finish in the state district meet, ending another successful year.

...Barnard and Todd Straus listen intently during meeting.

Steve Weiss, the Conjour Man, and Todd Straus, the Witch
Boy, receive instructions for the first scene from Mr.
Alleman.

Todd Straus, Carol Barnard, Jan Kaplin,
Laurie Eldredge, Steve Weiss and Claudia
Blair discuss plans for "Dark of the Moon."

'Dark of the Moon' Is Spring Play

A blend of enthusiasm and hard work resulted in one of the finest dramatic productions DHS has presented.

"The Dark of the Moon" is a folk play by Howard Richardson and William Berney. The story concerns the fate of John, a witch boy, who falls in love with Barbara Allen, who is not a witch. Through some bartering with the witches, John can become a human if Barbara becomes his faithful bride for one year.

Mr. Alleman discusses rehearsal policies and obligations at a full cast meeting.

Stage Crew

Students working on stage crew have contributed greatly to the excitement and success of many school productions. Their work requires precision, time and talent, but is ultimately rewarding.

Students acquire a general knowledge of the stage and are given the chance to contribute individual talents to create a unified and successful organization.

Drama Club

Drama club gives students a chance to practice dramatic arts through the interpretation and characterization of plays. The club's schedule includes interesting lectures given by guest speakers.

DRAMA CLUB OFFICERS—Mark Perry, president; Linda Johnson, vice president; Mr. Crouch, sponsor; Alice Untermeyer, secretary-treasurer.

Even art club members made the scene for Warrior Weekend as they painted windows in downtown Deerfield.

ART CLUB OFFICERS—Janet Bettiker, president; Sara Schwartz, vice president; Wendy Lehnert, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Visgatis, sponsor.

Art Club, Troubadour Exhibit Creativity

"Poetry must be written with emotion." "Let out your frustrations—Troubadour." So the campaign posters read for contributions to the literary magazine.

Troubadour serves as a device for pulling out the ideas and imaginative thought from those students who wish to so express themselves. The creativity of the students is represented by both literature and art in this publication.

Thursday afternoons often reveal art club members in a frantic rush to complete publicity posters or exhibits for the school's various display windows. These active students possess that spark of originality.

One of art club's most spirited ventures was painting Deerfield's shop windows with colorful and humorous cartoons as part of Warrior Weekend activities.

Deerprints Publishes Student News, Opinion

Visitors are not unusual at DHS, but are they really able to know what the school is? Perhaps the best way to determine the personality of DHS is through its student newspaper. No different than any professional paper, Deerprints doesn't neglect "In My Opinion," and always presents controversial editorials. It never fails to fulfill its goal of informing the students of newsworthy events, commenting on them, stimulating student thought and providing entertainment.

Staff members have attended conventions in Champaign, given by the Illinois State High School Press Association. The convention at the Conrad Hilton, sponsored by National Scholastic Press Association is an annual event and provides for an exchange of suggestions among staff members of many schools.

Yearbook Staff Employs Artists, Journalists, Photographers

"40 pages due this Friday?—impossible!" "Cut out 20 words." "No, we need a verical shot." "I don't care—do it anyway!" "You say my section has to be done by when?" This is just a smattering of the dialogue that was exchanged while working on O*YAD '65.

The three major editors met throughout the summer and began making plans—"the cover just has to be red this year!"

Publishing the yearbook is a considerable job at DHS. From September to March a day doesn't go by when work isn't done for O*YAD. A staff of nearly 30 students contributed time, always keeping in mind that they are needed to complete the enormous job of presenting a record of the complete school year.

"Happiness Is a Homecoming Victory" proved to be true as Deerfield defeated Maine West 14-13.

Nominees awaiting the announcement of prom king and queen are Bill Daniels, Tee Newbrough, Neal Hirsch, Tom Brown, Committee Chairmen Bonnie West and Paul Luy-ben, Katy Rogers, Kathy Magnus, Cheryl Linton and Betty Gardner.

Junior-Senior Prom, Graduation Highlight Spring Activities

Deerfield's first junior-senior prom, "Basin Street East," highlighted the spring activities of 1964. Committees formed by members of both classes started working and planning weeks before. The cafeteria was decorated to resemble the French Quarter in New Orleans, complete with hanging Spanish moss. The bandstand was even a gazebo. May 23 arrived and the scene was set for a great prom.

Almost before the seniors had recovered from prom, graduation approached. After many rehearsals, graduation night came. Seniors shrieked, "It's over," and were off on their way to Wisconsin for the graduation trip.

King Neal Hirsch and Queen Katy Rogers share their excitement.

There are many different aspects of high school life. All of them help create the spirit and enthusiasm of the faculty and the student body.

The unusual and unique scenes of this school are the ones the D*YAD staff has tried to emphasize in this book. It is this different view of Deerfield High School that we will all remember when we look back on our high school days. We sincerely hope that this volume will serve as a reminder of this school year for many years to come.

I would like to extend the thanks of the whole staff to Mr. Hudson for the patient help that he has given us; to Walingier's Studio for its assistance; to Edwards Brothers; and to the students and faculty of Deerfield High School for their cooperation.
