O*YAD

66

Witnessing change in a modern building, Deerfield High School students experienced a surge of pride in 1965-66. Expansion throughout the six year old high school convinced them that new methods were constantly being examined in all phases of student life.

The modern computer quickly calculated facts while the crowded corridors hummed with excitement as students passed from class to class. The addition to the school was launched into the planning stages, while the student council proposed additions to the school policy. Research in chemistry labs as well as experimentation in the English program were a part of an overall change during "Our Year at Deerfield."

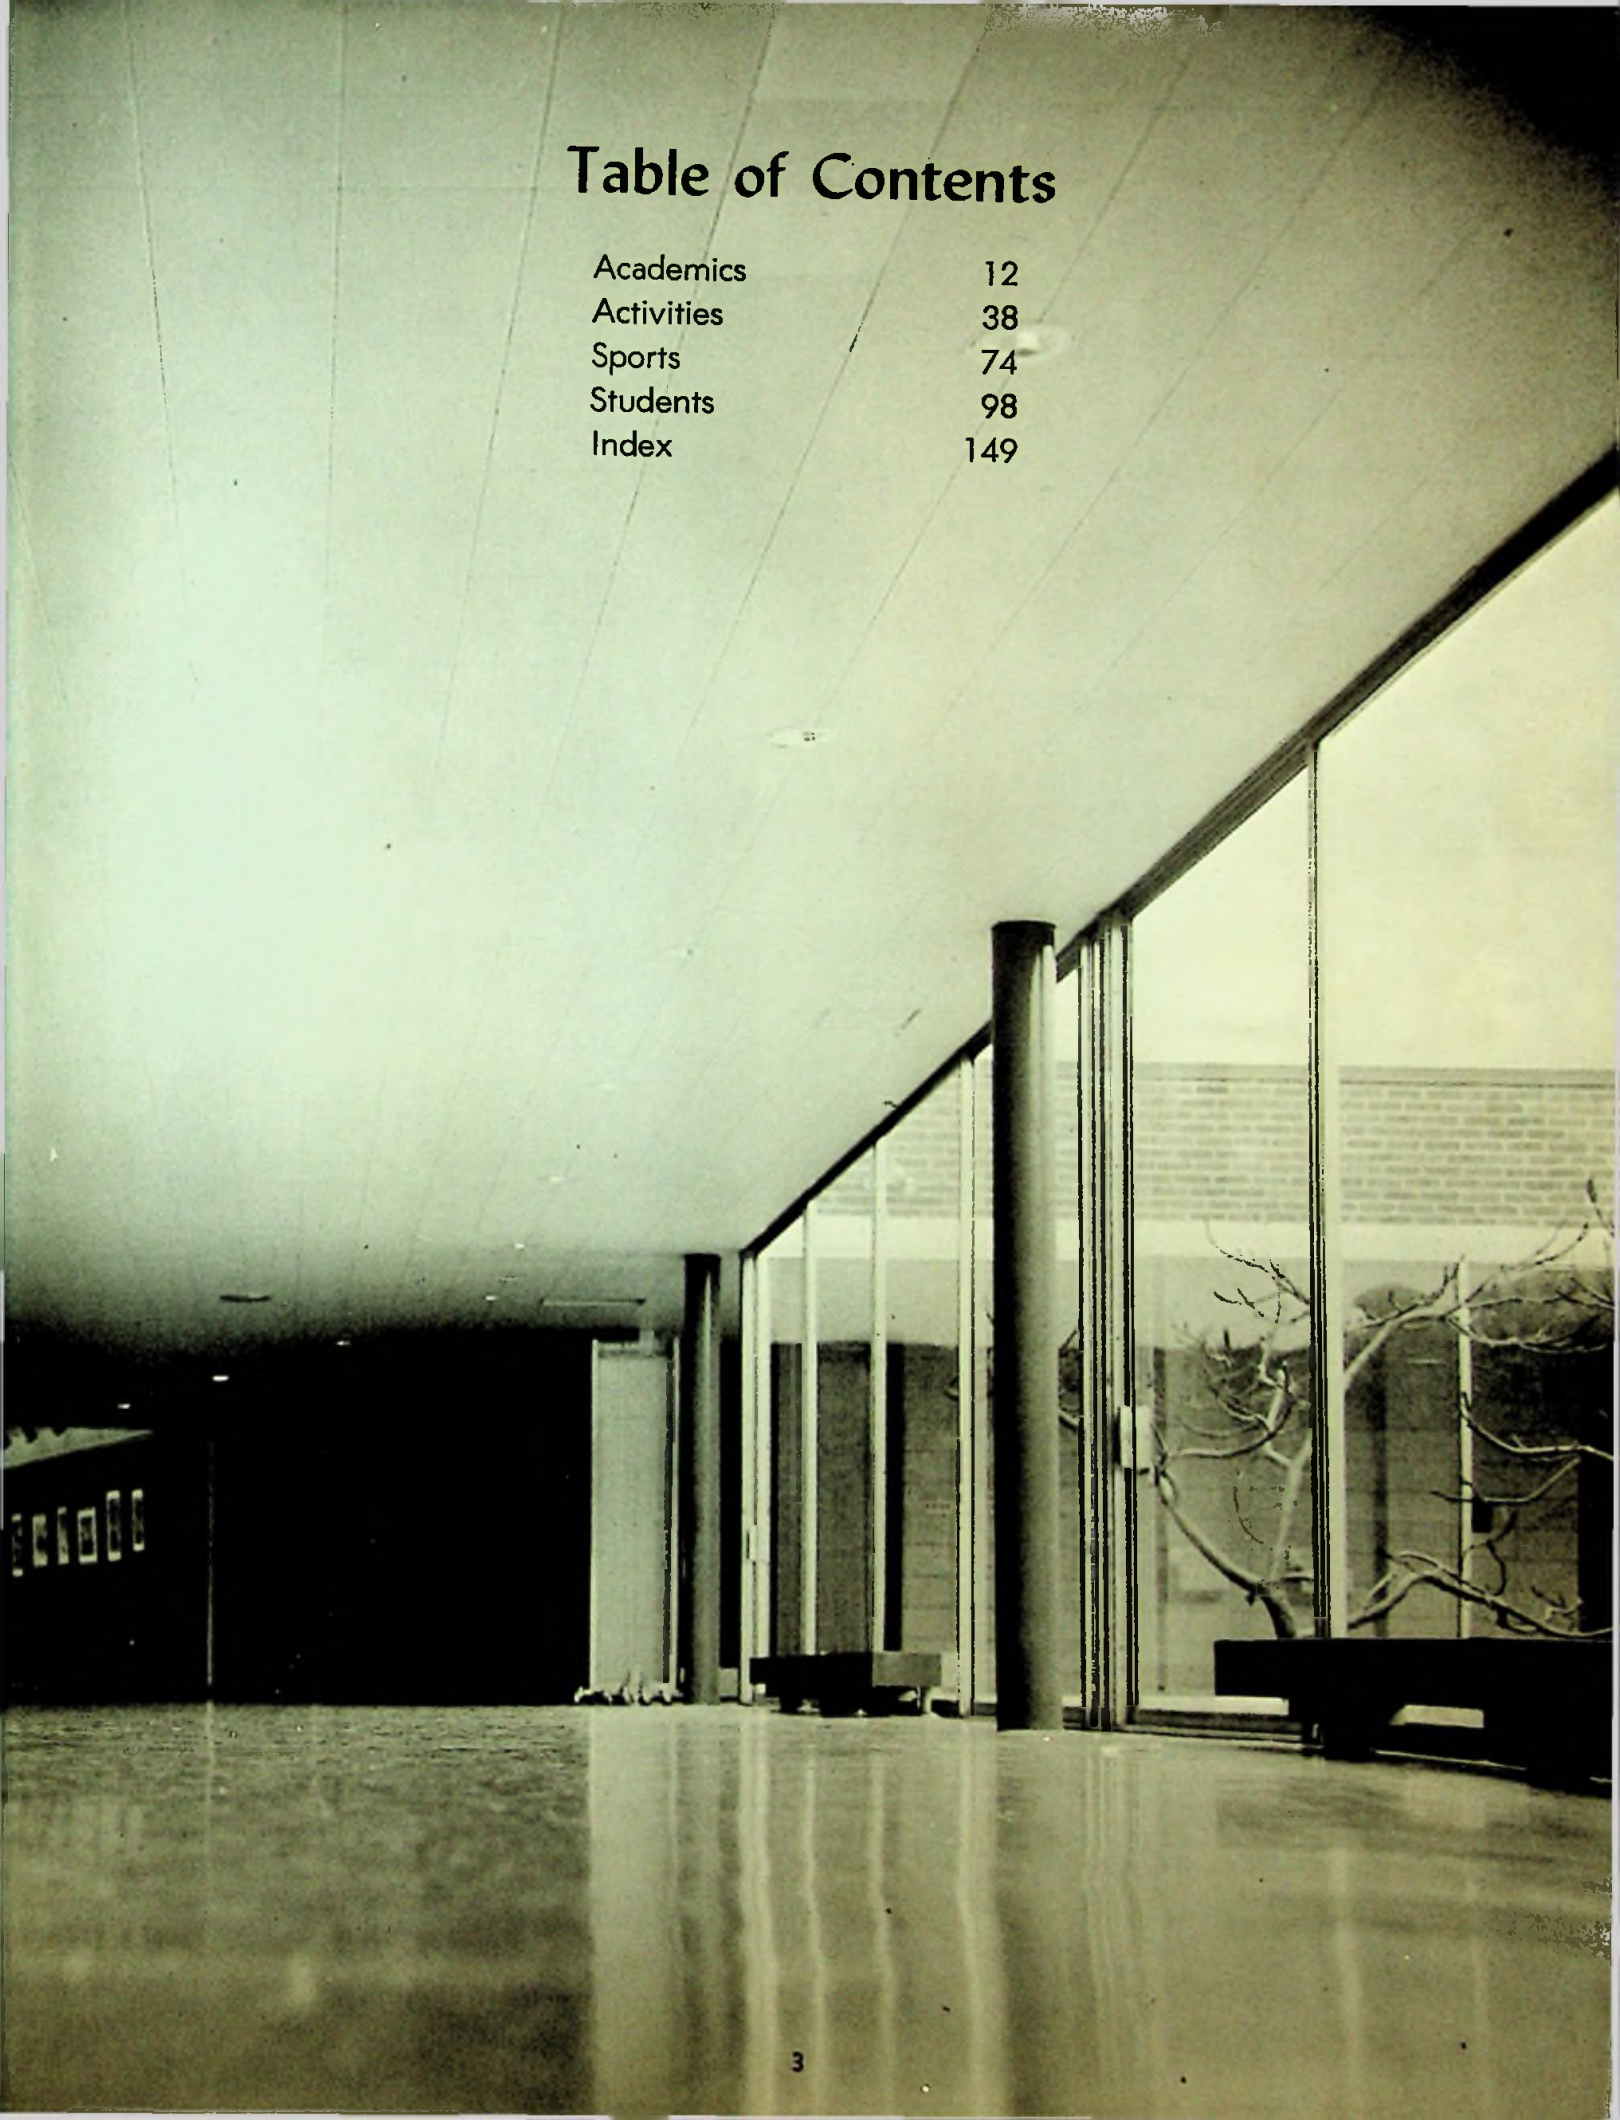

These phases of development contributed dimensions to DHS that can be noticed in the numerous art displays or the spirit during Warrior Weekend, in the friendships made in the glass corridor or the many students who received honors for outstanding achievement.

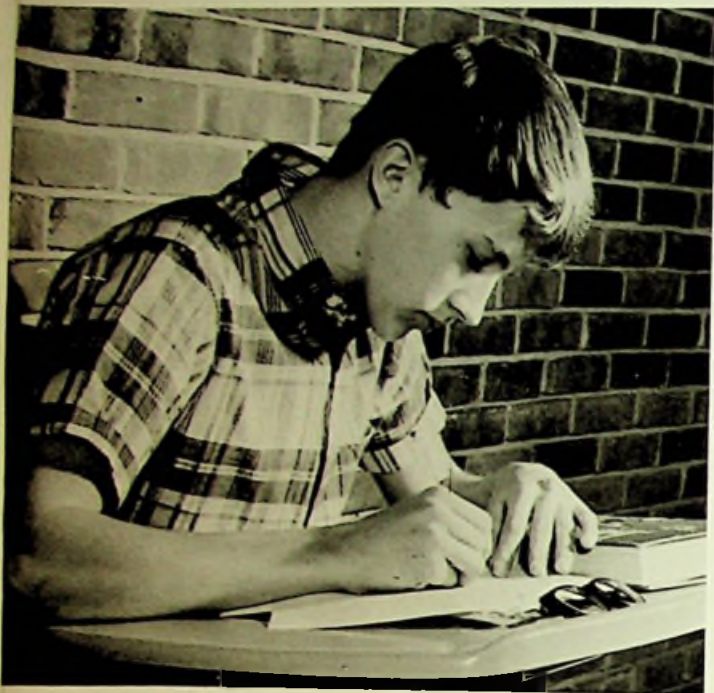

The dimensions, knowledge, unity, friendship and spirit, will be presented in this O*YAD for they characterize Deerfield in a year of change.

Who is the Deerfield High School student? He is a curious, ambitious teenager who expresses restlessness in his life at school, in the community and at home. His appearance reflects these changing moods and attitudes. Lumber jackets, sweatshirts, long hair, madras shirts and shoulder bags combine to form his total look.

---

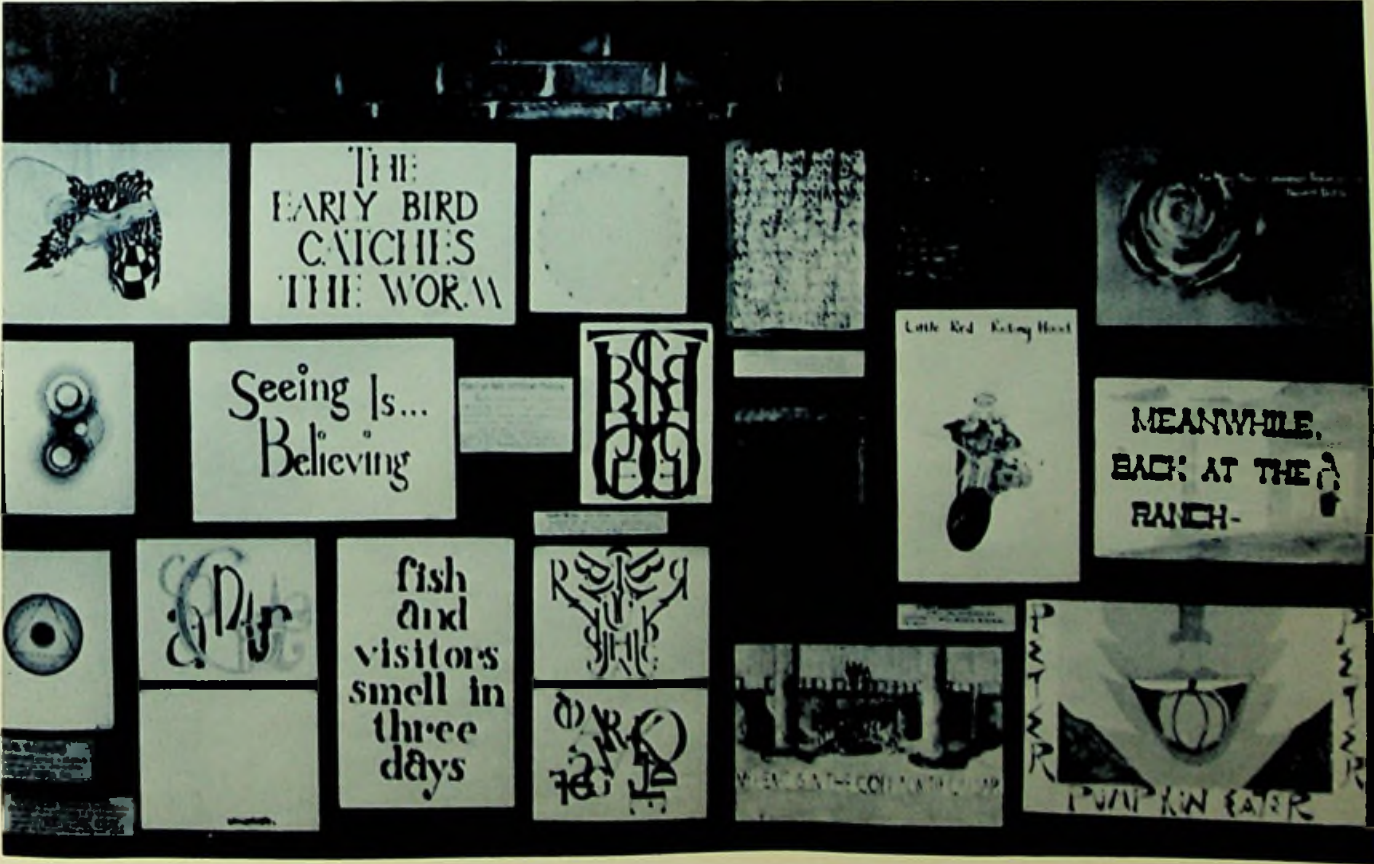

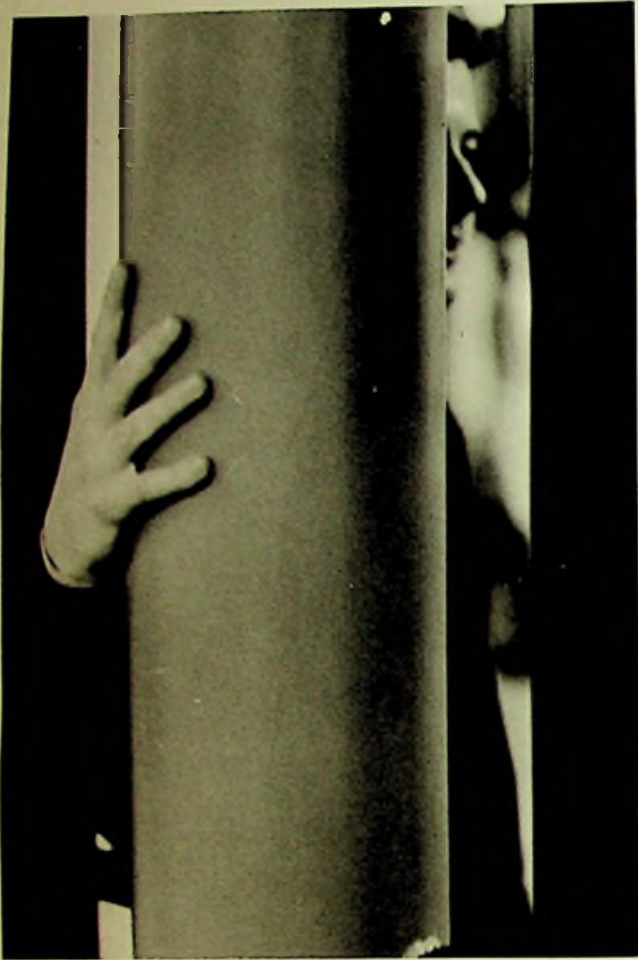

His life is characterized by varied circles of interest. He is constantly on the move, creating music—art—enthusiasm.

His character is revealed in his actions, whether it be eating in the snack bar or casually talking in the hall. The expression of this personality is exhibited in many forms—through modern art displays or a collection of favorite sayings on the inside of a locker.

Expressing individuality comes easily for a Deerfield student. As he shuffles through the halls with 1906 other students, he notices unique scenes that appeal to him. Many recently won trophies are displayed throughout the building so that each individual may identify with different aspects of the school.

Real knowledge, like everything else of value, is not to be obtained easily. It must be worked for, studied for, thought for. —Thomas Arnold

Guidance Department And

Since it purchased the College View-Deck, the Guidance Department has become a favorite place to go. The personnel of the Guidance Office are happy with this response, because they want to help students discover colleges they might otherwise overlook.

To use this machine, a student picks certain cards from the 100 criteria cards with the characteristics he desires in a college printed on them. By placing the cards on the machine a student is given the names of schools with the desired characteristics. More information can be obtained on these schools in the college materials area.

The Guidance Department provides personal, academic and vocational counseling through the session program and eight guidance counselors.

Prepared Visuals Aid English Theme Work

A science laboratory isn't the only place where experimentation takes place at Deerfield High School. The English Department is also using many modern methods. There is large group instruction in the senior English course. This, combined with the small tutorial period, makes a student more aware of the language he uses than in a conventional class.

There is a special emphasis put on the facet of composition this year in all classes. Pre-prepared visuals, used with an overhead projector, help to make certain points both interesting and informative. The projector is also used with students' material in order to facilitate full-class participation in constructive criticism.

Abdul Hamid II and Abu Bakr may sound like curious names, but they are commonplace to Afro-Middle Eastern students. Afro-Middle Eastern history and Advanced Placement European history are the two honors seminar courses open to academically talented seniors. Students are chosen for these programs on their ability, interest, reading scores and previous work with the social sciences. The Afro-Middle Eastern course examines the historical development of cultural traditions and stresses contemporary problems. The Advanced Placement Modern European history course is concerned with the intensive study of major concepts that have been essential to that area's full development.

The aim of these courses is to give students a deeper understanding of the world. Modern European history also prepares students for an advanced placement examination.

Preparing to analyze one of their classmates' term papers, Bonnie Sidran, Mike Stern, Maureen Dougherty, Mellie Jacober, Judy Savin, Helen Hayner and Cathy Hoff review it quickly.

Computer-Age Spurs Math Reorganization

This year the Mathematics Department has been completely reorganized. The new system, with the exception of the Advanced Placement Calculus class, is run according to the modern math method.

There are also four courses which have been added to the curriculum. Two of them are independent semester courses, Matrix Math and Probability and Statistics. A mathematics survey and a computer course are the other two classes. Students learn new skills on the Wyle computer which can be operated manually or with punch cards. It performs such functions as multiplication, addition, computing square roots, sines and tangents.

A closed circuit television, also recently added to the department, will enable a teacher to instruct many classrooms simultaneously. It can also be used in conjunction with the computer.

Richard Foster and Mike Bix use the Wyle computer to evaluate the sine series for different numbers.

Practical Skills Applied In Well-Equipped Labs

Walking through DHS, one can't miss seeing the vivarium. Situated at the nucleus of the school, the vivarium is a cross between a zoo and a greenhouse. Its pond is overflowing with specimens ready for dissection by biology students.

The physics and chemistry classes are also well-equipped with experimental materials. Centrifuges and precise scales provide chemistry students with professional equipment, while physics students perform difficult experiments with simpler devices.

Advanced placement courses are offered in chemistry, biology and physics. This year the fourth class in this series is AP chemistry. Students completing this course may take an examination at the end of the year. Qualifying grades exempt participants from certain college courses.

Conversation Emphasized In Language Laboratories

"Around the World in Eighty Days" was a long voyage compared to the trip a language student can take in Deerfield's language labs at the push of a button. These laboratories provide an opportunity for students to put to practical use in conversation what they have learned in class.

The new portable laboratory is used in the classrooms. To each console twenty-four head-sets are attached, complete with microphones. The teacher controls the unit and acts as monitor.

Filmstrips, shown as students hear tapes, coordinate cultural aspects with the language of the country. A varied selection of tapes helps students become accustomed to different voices and dialects. Through the study of structure and by daily conversational use, students learn foreign languages as they learned English.

Art Students Explore Different Dimensions

Miss Gorr, chairman
Mr. Visgatis

There is more than paint and canvas in the DHS Art Department. Papier mache, cardboard and string are just a few of the other materials used. Wood and string structures are also being constructed in first year art classes. More advanced classes are investigating the many phases of photography.

The Art 7-9 class went on a valuable field trip. Students traveled to McCormick Place for the Fine Arts-Home Furnishings Show. Such a field trip aids a student's incentive and suggests creative ideas.

Experimentation is stressed in form and material as well as subject matter. This is evident by the projects put on display throughout the school. Such courses as oil painting, sculpture, photography and commercial art clearly show the diversity within the Art Department.

Wood sculpting requires complete concentration of John Foster.

Debbie Patterson completes a realistic sketch of a still life scene.

In the quiet of a practice room, Karen Zahnle figures out basic chords.

Accompanied by Rick Conedera, A Cappella members Ron Brandenburg, Jamie Rigler, Tom Felt, Steve Haggerty, Mike Fox and Kay Morris rehearse for Christmas caroling.

Band, Chorus, Orchestra Form Harmonious Triangle

Surprise Christmas caroling by the A Cappella Choir was one of the many treats the Music Department gave the student body this year. The other three choruses are general chorus, freshman advanced chorus and girls' chorus. This year twelve people picked by audition were formed into the Madrigal chorus. This group specializes in singing music written for small groups. Though more people in the school are involved in choral activities than in any of the other music groups, other musical activities are also popular.

The orchestra, concert band and marching band entertain students many times during the year. The marching band performs at student athletic events, while the other groups play for musicals and in special concerts.

Home Economics Guides Girls To Future Careers

A visit to a friend's house by a home economics student could be a surprising experience. She may redecorate the entire place. The enthusiasm for interior decoration makes it one of the most popular courses in the department. The five other areas of concentration are foods, clothing, child development, family planning and house planning.

No matter what area she picks, she is sure to use modern equipment which allows every student the opportunity to learn more skills. One example of this is the child development program. The Home Economics Department sponsors a nursery school for local boys and girls. The home economics students care for the children while they study their physical and emotional development. In this situation both the community and the students benefit.

Industrial Arts Teaches Application Of Mechanics

Industrial arts students aren't planning another Empire State Building, but they do have big ideas for construction. This department encompasses two programs. The first is for students who want to absorb basic mechanical ability. Courses in this program include drafting and power machines.

The second dimension of industrial arts is designed for college-bound students and for students who are planning to work after high school. Their courses include engineering drafting, architectural drawing and machines. In accordance with these studies students use two mechanical drawers in place of T-squares.

Three Programs Offered In Business Education

"Take a letter, please," may be a familiar sound in the future for business education students. This department offers three lines of study. They are college prep, secretarial and clerical, and sales and retailing. Some college prep courses are business organization and management, and college typing and notehand. From the secretarial and clerical courses one can choose typing, shorthand, book-keeping and machine operation. Sales and retailing, introduction to business and business law provide a general education for all students.

An aid to both teachers and students is the shorthand lab. It is capable of playing four different tapes simultaneously. Each student tunes into one tape which dictates at a challenging speed. This lab frees the teacher from continual class dictation and allows him to work with individual students.

Mrs. Maxey and her class, Mary Long, Barb Johnson, Sara Schear, Diane Johnson, Debbie Whitridge and Nancy Larson, work with the new shorthand lab.

Modern Library Facilities Fulfill Individual Needs

An integral part of every department at DHS, yet a department in itself, is the library. Through its wide variety of resources and supplies, the library has materials and many modern teaching aids to fit every individual's curriculum. These include a microfilm projector, record players, tape recorders and a Thermo-Fax copy machine. If a student misses a film in class he can see it on the film strip previewer. Two new additions are a eight millimeter projector and a vertical file of current events.

Besides the curriculum books, the library provides fictional books, magazines and newspapers. The college materials area is another feature of the library. Books in great demand and many reference books are in the reserve room. There is also a reference area for the school's faculty.

Physical Education Stresses Gymnastics

Jumping up and down seems to be a favorite pastime for both girls and boys at DHS, whether it be on a trampoline or a spring board.

This year the girls' gymnastic class has expanded greatly. New equipment has been added, such as mats, uneven parallel bars, reuther boards or spring platforms and balance beams. Gymnastic activities have spread throughout the school with the tumbling club, interscholastic competition and class instruction.

Weight lifting and gymnastics are important in the Boy's Physical Education Department. DHS has excellent equipment in these areas including twenty-four sets of weights, side horses, rings, horizontal bars, parallel bars and trampolines.

Launches Homecoming

Spirit plus originality proved to be the formula for an exciting and unique Warrior Weekend. Friday night's pep rally set the pace for the two days of festivities. The theme of the rally, the "Eve of Destruction," was carried out with an original song about a Warrior Homecoming victory. Skits, team introductions and the spirit jug contest, won by the sophomore class, swelled the enthusiasm of the crowd.

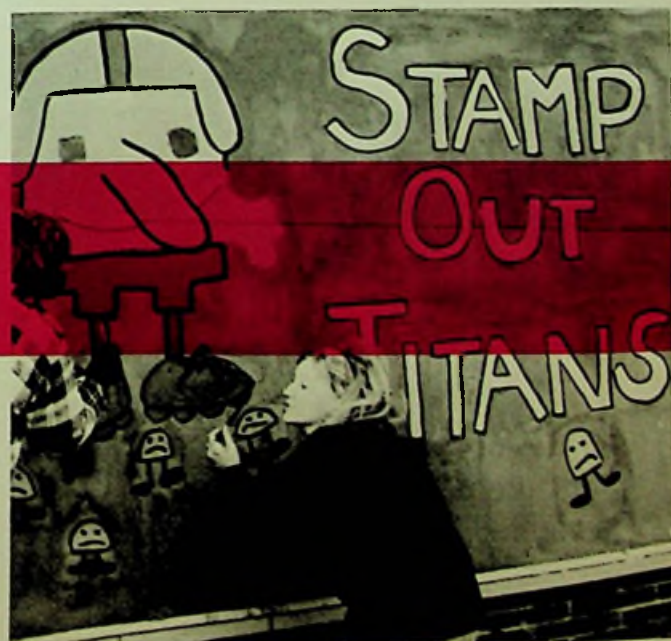

Following the pep rally, a snake dance twisted its way around the school, under the Arch of Triumph, finally untangling itself at the traditional bonfire. The announcement of the homecoming queen and her court made this a special part of the weekend for these five girls.

After the bonfire everyone returned to the cafeteria for the coke dance sponsored by the Student Council. Last minute touches were put on the floats late Friday night to prepare them for Deerfield's first homecoming parade the following day.

Debbie Montrose, Val Fladeland and Lynette Linton entertain the crowd with a chorus of "Jug-a-Lug."

Judy Ruggirello puts the finishing touches on a colorful creation on an uptown store window.

"Fifth Quarter" Celebrates Warrior Win

Early Saturday morning decorated cars lined up in town ready to pull out into Deerfield's first homecoming parade. The Marching Warriors struck up the first chords of "Happy Days" and led the parade down Waukegan Road to DHS.

By the time the varsity game began, the stands and the excitement of the crowd were overflowing. During half-time the marching band performed, the A Capella Choir sang the Alma Mater and the Homecoming Queen, Barb Franke, was crowned. She and her court were then escorted to their cars and led the parade of floats around the field. "Dragon Home a Victory," the senior float, took first place in the annual contest. During the last seconds of the game the air became thick with confetti and yells of victory.

The Homecoming Dance, "The Fifth Quarter," rewarded the juniors for their efforts. The dance boasted the largest attendance in Deerfield's history and was the finishing touch to a thrilling two days at Deerfield.

At this year's Student Stunts Bill Emery and Brian Roettger took the audience on an excursion through Lower Manhattan, a Kansas cornfield, a Las Vegas night club and a Hollywood boarding house. At these four stops Deerfield High School's amusing view of American life was presented.

The student directors, Bill Emery and Becky Kissling, along with Mrs. Kramsky and the committee heads, spent many hard days to produce this road show.

Two Extraordinary "Men"

The Broadway hit, "The Music Man," proved a good choice for the spring musical. Professor Harold Hill, professional con man, comes to River City on the pretense of organizing a boys' band. His scheme is discovered, but the professor finally wins over the townspeople. Popular music, humor and stylistic scenery provided an enjoyable and imaginative background for the performance.

The drama students also presented a "Man" this year--"The Man Who Came To Dinner." This comedy tells of a guest who stays for dinner, breakfast, lunch and dinner again for quite a long time, due to an injury received at his host's home.

Mike Augustein, Molly McDuffy, Dave Schooler, Cathy London and Jan Hirsch enjoy "Music Man" practice.

"Music Man" Friday night cast includes--Row 1: Mr. Crouch, A. Coen, A. Strauss, M. Washburn, M. Jacober, M. Johnson. Row 2: A. Smith, J. Rigler, J. Colo. Row 3: R. Conedera, M. Lipson, B. Kissling, H. Moran.

Pantomimist Bud Beyer, spent several days with the drama class and performed in a program after school.

Swim Club members practice layout position in preparation for the annual synchronized swimming show.

In a senior class assembly Brian Roettger, Bev Rogers, Linda Frech, Nan Lichter, Carol Barnard and Boyd Kinter performed "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," which was later presented in forensic competition.

Despite the enthusiasm of the faculty cheerleaders, Mrs. Freehling, Miss Bremer, Mrs. Enmark, Mrs. Johnson, Mrs. Chamberlain and Miss Coleman, the teachers lost the first Faculty-Senior basketball game.

Linda Frech, commentator for the Girls' Club fashion show, "Come as You Are" describes John Pickles' sports attire.

DHS Council Coordinates Student Policies, Activities

John Rosner and Mike Haines purchase two out of the 1100 tickets from Sue Klein, Kurt Kramer, and Leslie Davis for the computer dance, "Truth or Consequences."

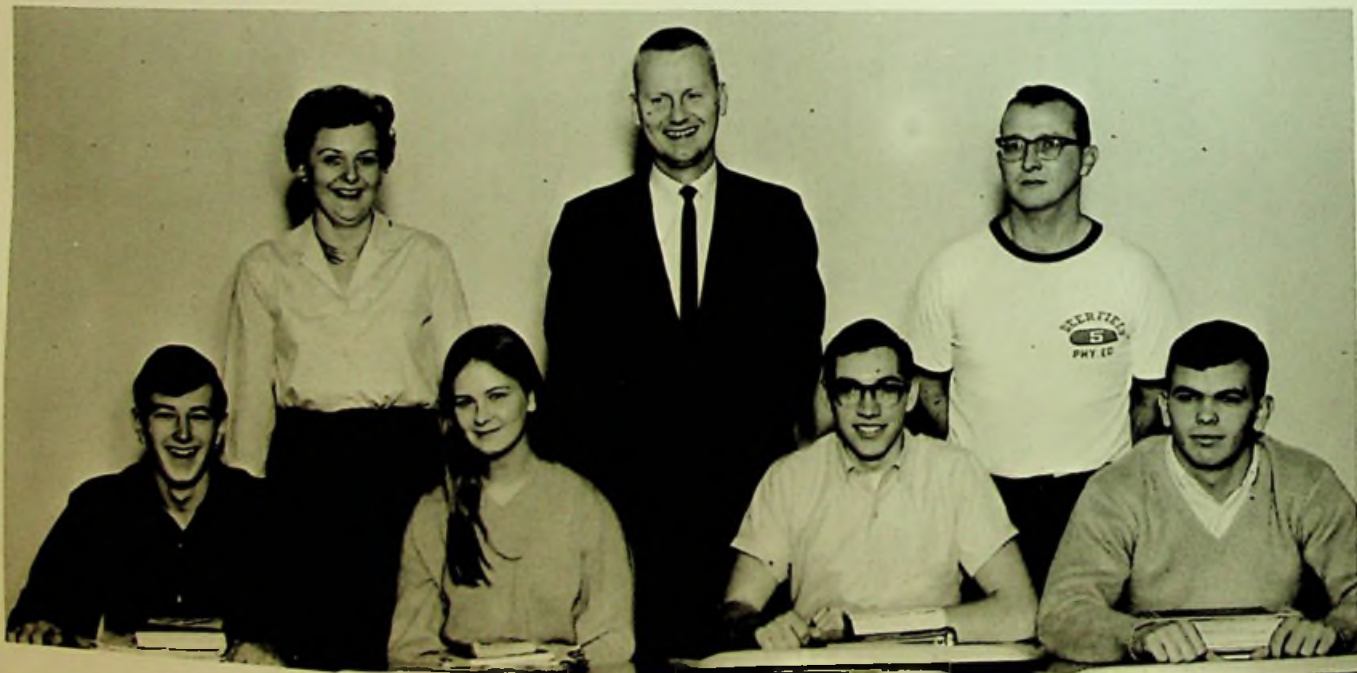

Hundreds of computer cards posted throughout the school helped publicize "Truth or Consequences," Deerfield High School's first computer dance, sponsored by Student Council.

This organization also held the annual Kick-Off Dance and organized Warrior Weekend. Besides providing student entertainment, Council benefited the student body by investigating the School Dress Code, an Honor Code and the elimination of senior exams.

School Chest, a major project of Council, was changed this year to provide aid to help build a school in South America through a special school-to-school program. Members of other schools' Councils came to visit and learn about DHS on several exchange days.

Student Council members gain an understanding of Parliamentary Procedure and learn to work with others.

DEERPRINTS, the student newspaper, constantly strives to inform and entertain the student body and community through news and feature articles.

The editorial page helps to arouse student interest in school activities and allows students to express their views on these matters. This is possible by letters to the editor and interesting cartoons.

The News Bureau, a new branch of the paper, writes articles about school events for the local papers. It serves to better acquaint the community with school happenings.

The staff begins the groundwork for the yearbook during the summer through meetings and attendance at University workshops. Weekly staff meetings and daily conferences of the editor-in-chief and the copy and layout editors are necessary to complete all the carefully laid plans.

A trip to the University of Illinois for an annual Illinois Scholastic High School Press Association by four members of the staff, as well as a convention held by the National Scholastic Press Association helped the staff gain a better understanding of the problems in producing a yearbook.

Debate, Speech Students Compete In Tournaments

Getting up at 6 A.M. on a Saturday morning sounds like a nightmare, but this is usual practice for the Debate Team. The debaters rebutted and defended the topic "Resolved: The Federal Government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes in basic industries."

The Suburban Interstate Debate League tournaments, the Northwestern tournament and hosting the annual Junior Varsity Winter Tournament were a few of the many activities this group sponsored.

Membership in the Speech Club, one of the newest clubs at DHS, increased from two boys in 1963-64 to eighty students this year. Students compete in tournaments, participate in assemblies and make tape recordings of readings for use in classrooms. With ten categories for competition, speech offers something for everyone.

Admiring Linda Frech's first place trophy for oratorical declamation at East Leyden are Alice Untermeyer, Larry Strichman, Mike Bix and Mike Sanders.

Choral Groups Perform For School, Community

Expansion is the key word of this year and future years for the Music Department. Mr. Kyle hopes to add two new choruses to the present six. Hosting a college chorus is a project for the Music Department in the future.

Choruses take an active part in school activities. Members practice to perfect technique and then perform at the Christmas assemblies, the District Festival, the Fine Arts Festival and commencement exercises. The department's outstanding event this year was its production of the operetta "Music Man."

A Cappella Choir, accompanied by the band, sings the Alma Mater during the homecoming half-time.

Half-Time Entertainment

One of the highlights of a home football game is the half-time activities. It is then that the DHS "Marching Warriors" come onto the field. Together with the five twirlers and a high stepping band major, the band coordinates patterns with music.

In addition to sport activities, the band plays music for the students and community. Among the highlights are the Christmas Concert, the District Music Festival, the Spring Band Concert and the Memorial Day Parade.

Girls interested in joining the twirling corps are invited to practice during the summer months and the beginning of the school year. In October they audition for the squad and are picked on the basis of fundamental skills, and marching and drilling ability.

TWIRLERS--J. Baxter, B. Cody, C. Zeman, J. Vander Bloomen, P. Treadwell.

ORCHESTRA OFFICERS--G. Parish, librarian; E. Babcock, secretary; G. Eisinger, vice president; K. Gustie, president.

Orchestra Entertains At Concerts And Assemblies

Under the direction of a new conductor, Mr. Washburn, the Deerfield High School orchestra played at many social and school events. The first performance of the year took place at the National Honor Society initiation assembly.

Orchestra also played at the District Festival, the Illinois Music Educator's Association Concert, the Christmas assembly and the spring concert. Members of orchestra practiced especially hard for their most important performance, "The Music Man." All year the orchestra provides music for both the school and community.

Stage Crew Contributes To Success Of Shows

"Stage Crew is one of the most unusual clubs in the school," according to Marcia Lauzon, stage manager. She was referring to the genuine interest the members have in learning more about the workings of the theatre.

Apprentice stage hands learn about lighting, sound, sets and curtains. Many tedious hours are spent by all members preparing for school productions such as Stunts and "Music Man." Stage Crew also provides lighting for the swim show, dance show, fine arts programs and school dances. The crew is rarely ever seen during a production, but their talents in lighting, sound, construction and design are constantly observed by all who attend.

STAGE CREW HEADS--Row 1: Rich Hood, audio; Anne Carley, set designer; Joan Eldredge, crew. Row 2: Roger Voight, electrician; Chuck Healy, curtains; Frank Baker, construction.

Surrounded by Stage Crew's favorite mottos, Marcia Lauzon, stage manager, is ready to give directions to her crew.

In a flurry of work, stage hands prepare sets for a drama production.

Jon Toledo from Brazil, Vicky Atchatavivan from Thailand and Karin Schneider from Germany enjoy their American winter by joining Sue Norton, hospitality chairman, on a toboggan ride.

Busy AFS workers provide refreshments for one of Deerfield's many coke dances.

AFS Expands Program; Hosts Three Students

"Walk together, talk together
O ye peoples of the earth;
Then and only then
Shall ye have peace"

This motto, taken from the ancient Sanskrit writings, expresses the belief of the American Field Service in international cooperation. AFS supports the three foreign exchange students through snack bar, Dial-Data and such activities as a fall tag day.

The group also hosts an AFS weekend in March. Foreign exchange students from all over the area come to DHS for parties, panel discussions and school activities. The purpose of this is to promote the interest of American students in the customs and people of other nations.

AFS EXECUTIVE BOARD--Nancy Gahl, Anne Carley, Sue Wallerstein, Alice Nusbaum, Bonnie Sidran, Barb Bartell, Jill Schulze, Miss Werhan, adviser. Absent: Monica King.

Girls' Club Participates In Varied Service Activities

A grand display of femininity is only one of Girls' Club's many assets. Through the club, each girl is encouraged to participate in social and service projects.

In the fall the club sponsors the big-sister little-sister tea where freshman girls are introduced to school organizations. Girls' Club also holds the annual magazine drive to earn money for senior scholarships.

At "Mothers on the Moon," the mother-daughter banquet, a movie produced by the officers provided entertainment. Prizes were given to the top sellers of the magazine drive. Other activities included a look-alike contest and a table top scavenger hunt.

The spring fashion show, "Come as You Are", displayed clothes for every occasion worn by students, parents and teachers.

Fairy Godmother Tina Wolf comes to the rescue of Denise Oscarson in a take-off on "Cinderella" presented at the big-sister little-sister tea.

Dee Gerson and Martha Jones show poise needed for the Girls' Club Fashion Show.

Education And Service Guidelines Of FNC, FTA

The Future Nurses Club, infected with the spirit of helping others, made Christmas stockings for the Red Cross and visited patients at Eden View Convalescent Home and Downey Hospital. FNC members prepare for careers in health by hearing student nurses and specialists speak about various health areas.

Members of Future Teachers Association learn more about teaching careers by hearing guest lecturers and through practical experience. Among the club's activities this year were sponsoring the student tutoring program after school and observing and teaching at a local grammar school.

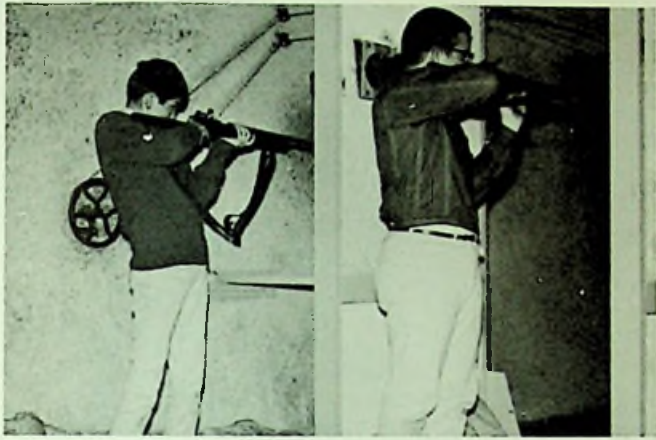

During National Education Week the FTA honored the DHS faculty by giving each of them an apple.

Sue Wallerstein, FTA tutor, helps Val Russman understand irregular verbs.

Glenn Johnson and Mike Melhauser aim for Rifle Club honors.

RIFLE CLUB OFFICERS--Jeff Lloyd, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Kherberg, adviser; Jim Robinson, president.

Rifle And Chess Clubs Improve With Practice

Once a week shots ring out from behind the police station, as Rifle Club members try to improve their skills. Members do not participate in competition but shoot for enjoyment, added skill and to learn the necessary safety precautions.

Chess Club members strive for high goals by competing for achievement pins, awarded annually to the ten best players. Planning for a future chess league on the North Shore and providing money for new chess sets and transportation to tournaments are additional projects.

Chess Club members contemplate their moves on the stairs.

Art Club And Troubadour Produce Original Works

This year art enthusiasts have kept their brushes busy adding color to Deerfield High School.

Art Club sponsored the annual painting of store windows with cartoons predicting a homecoming victory. Another project was the multi-colored handrail which has been added to the glass wall outside the vivarium. Pictured on it are various forms of plant and animal life.

Increasing student contributions to the DHS literary magazine, TROUBADOUR, was stressed by the staff this year. Students with creative ability are given the opportunity to have their work printed and appreciated by the student body and faculty.

Art Club members, Linda Johnson and Robin Hosford, create a floral mural to add color to J-hall.

ART CLUB OFFICERS--Alice Untermeyer, president; Marilyn David, treasurer; Mr. Visgatis, adviser; Nina Andoniadis, secretary; Pam Russell, social chairman; Nancy Siegal, vice president.

Staff members select literature and picture contributions for the forthcoming TROUBADOUR edition.

Sue Norton, editor-in-chief of TROUBADOUR

SCIENCE CLUB EXECUTIVE BOARD--Mr. Huntsinger, adviser; Kai Repsholdt, executive board; Harriet Kang, president; David Raber, vice president; Mark Schrader, secretary.

Math And Science Clubs Discover And Experiment

Math Club's new member, the Wyle Scientific, may prove to be its most valuable. This $4,000 computer has helped Math Club by performing many tedious computations. Some interesting topics discussed during the year are the Tractenburg system, Fibonacci series and Einstein's theory of relativity.

The aerated plants had a fourteen per-cent greater yield than the ones that were not aerated. This is the result of one of Science Club's experiments. Besides learning by their own research, members gain knowledge from speakers and field trips. One of these trips was to the Hyperbolic Chamber at Lutheran General Hospital.

MATH CLUB OFFICERS--Richard Foster, secretary-treasurer; Mr. Doren, adviser; Mike Bix, president; Pam Ericson, vice president.

Adjusting the apparatus of the bean plants is one of the jobs of Dave Raber and Harriet Kang.

GIMA EXECUTIVE BOARD--Simone Mattenheimer; Leslie Davis, secretary-treasurer; Kathy Thullen, intramural coordinator; Barb Skidmore, president; Bindy Nielson, publicity chairman. Absent: Elaine Schwartz; Beth Nelson, vice president; Miss Toole, adviser.

Girls Express Creativity,

As co-ordinators for the Tumbling, Dance, Swim and Tennis Clubs, the Girls Intramural Association is a busy organization. Catering to the athletic interests of every girl, GIMA provides a chance for enjoyment and improvement in after school sports.

Members of the Leaders Program, another girls athletic group, assist gym teachers. Enthusiasm in this organization is highlighted by playing faculty teams and by intramural participation.

TUMBLING CLUB--Row 1: Debbie Wentworth, Sue Kelso, Nancy Peterschmidt, Kathy Thullen, Chris Vecchione, Dorrie Winkler, Katy Taylor, Naomi Scher, Sandy Schmidt, Jill Schulze. ## Student Organizations Boost School Spirit

Deerfield's big "D" is worn by a select group of boys who have proven their excellence in athletics and who maintain high moral and physical standards. As a service organization, the Varsity Club takes charge of selling athletic programs and sponsors fun-nights.

Cheerleaders have joined forces with Pep Club members to help promote school spirit in all activities. The varsity cheerleaders' new uniforms give them extra sparkle when in action. The Pep Club has added new color to DHS in the form of a swim team banner, names for the backs of basketball uniforms and by sponsoring Deerfield's first homecoming parade.

Cheerleaders Gwen Mooney, Gail Palmquist, Nancy Peterschmidt, Sue Freifeld, Patty Hayes and Jill Schulze welcome the crowd with "Hi Gang."

Varsity Harriers Place Third In Conference

The Cross Country runners, with only three returning lettermen, ended the season with a record of 2 wins and 3 losses. John Elliot was named as the team's Most Valuable Runner for 1965. Results of the Conference Meet showed the varsity Warriors in third place.

The Frosh-Soph harriers, closing the season with 4 wins and 2 losses, ran the path to victory at the Lake County Cross Country Meet.

Undefeated Warriors Take First Conference Title

"Dime among nickels." These were the words Coach Mike Koehler used at the first pep rally to describe Deerfield's football team. Coach Doug Kay's Warriors presented Deerfield High School with its first football conference championship. Sweeping through an undefeated Central-Suburban League season, Tim Brandt's touchdown with forty-nine seconds remaining in the homecoming game with Glenbrook South gave the Warriors a 14-7 win over their toughest opposition to the title.

All-State Quarterback John Lindquist passed for 1132 yards as the potent Red and Gray offense combined with the awesome "monster" defense outscored conference opponents 117-28. Overflowing pep rallies and mile-long car parades, as well as capacity crowds at games, exhibited the student body's whole-hearted support.

Junior Varsity gridmen drew heavily on under-class talent to match their Varsity counterpart with their first league title. They finished the season with a 4-1 record. The Sophomores finished 2-3, while the Freshmen were 4-1.

The homecoming crowd, floats, and at times, even Glenbrook South were behind quarterback John Lindquist as the Warriors topped the Titans.

Deerfield Cagers Complete

Deerfield's most successful basketball season would have been truly outstanding had not injuries taken their toll. Despite one or more starters begin sidelined most of the time, the Warriors closed out with a fourth place tie in the Central Suburban League.

District competition proved Deerfield's true potential as a healthy and fired-up squad knocked off Lake Forest, 70-66 in the first round. Coach Lyle Frahm described the following match with high-ranked North Chicago as "we were at our best," although the Warriors were edged 63-61.

The junior varsity's record earned them a tie for conference championship honors, while the freshman squad was undefeated for its conference championship.

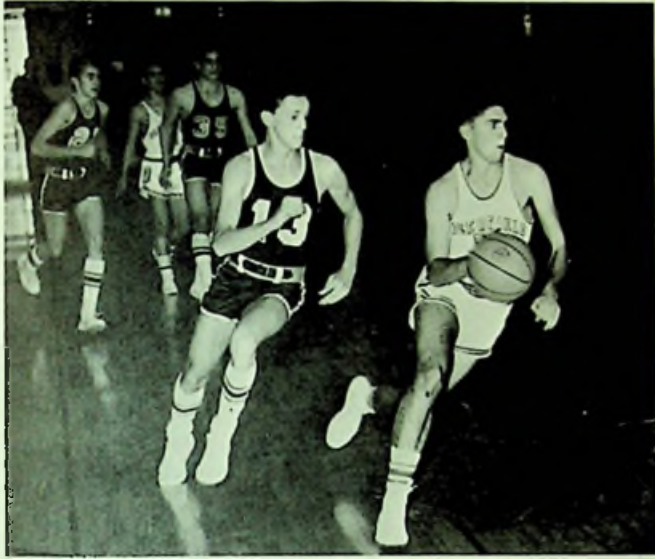

John Deziel, Gerry Carper and John Lindquist display defensive effort that beat West Leyden, 75-65.

Fourth In State Competition

Illinois high school swimming is no longer discussed in terms of "the three." Fourth place once again fell to Deerfield's Warriors in what amounted to a repeat of last season's outstanding performances.

First place finishes in the Mid-Central Suburban League and again in the Riverside-Brookfield Invitational complimented the squad's dual meet record. The Warriors fell only to New Trier, Evanston and Hinsdale.

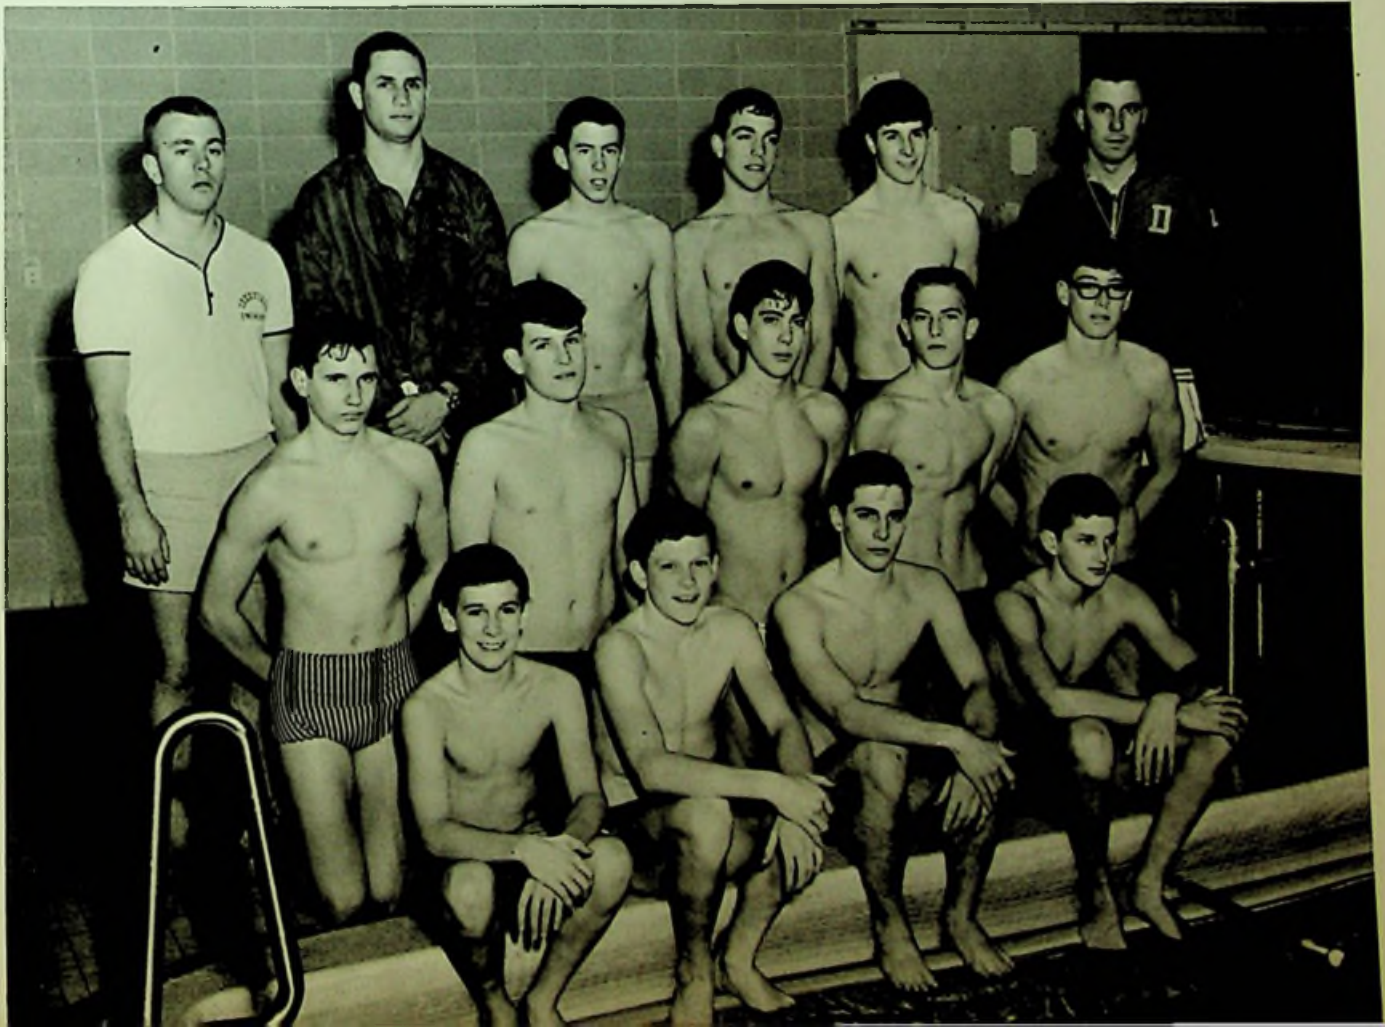

Coach John Smith focused what totaled nearly 2½ weeks worth of practice to the state meet, where seven swimmers reached the finals in six events.

Frosh-Soph swimmers enjoyed an undefeated conference dual meet record, but finished second in the league to New Trier West.

Warrior Wrestlers Boast Four Team Championships

In an unprecedented effort for supremacy, Warrior wrestlers were undefeated on all four levels. Coach Tom Halford boasted four conference titles as Deerfield hosted and placed second in district competition.

Dispelling the myth that wrestling is dull, the growing number of avid wrestling fans witnessed Niles West and North fall by identical 21-20 scores in matches displaying the Warriors' explosive attack.

Steve Mitchell advanced to the state meet and placed third, although he had twice before beaten the eventual champion in his weight class.

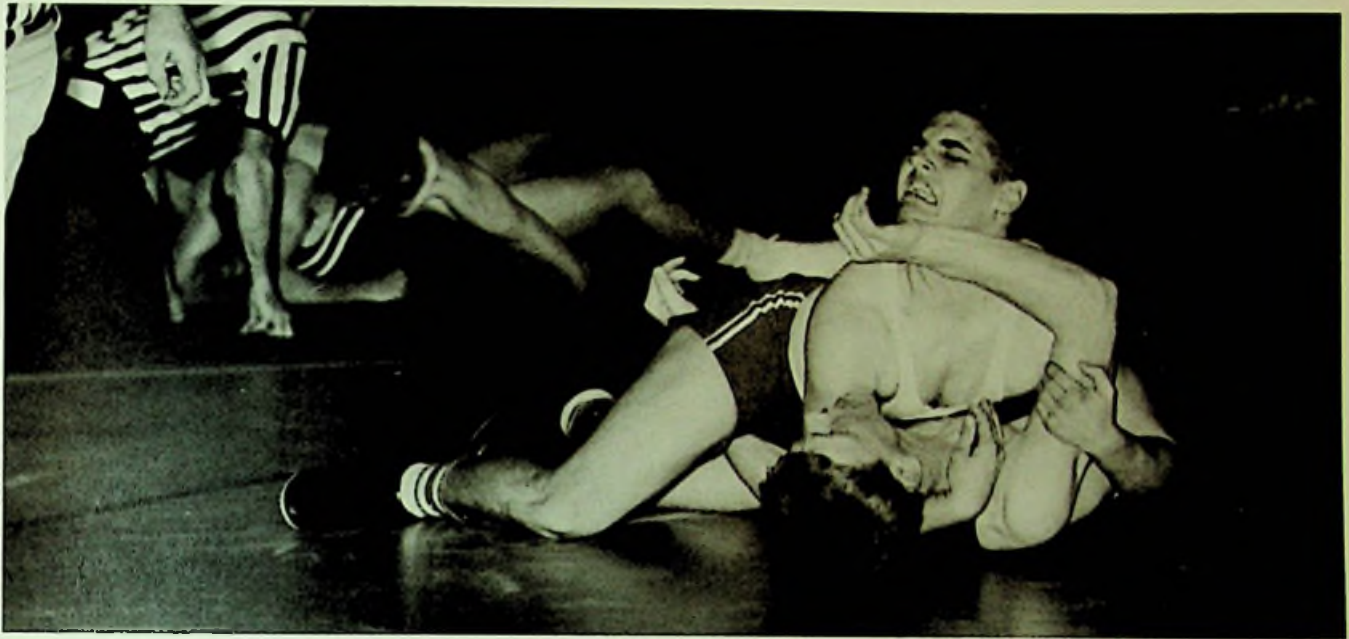

Depth keyed underclass squads as they not only won their respective conference titles, but also contributed heavily to the varsity ranks.

Students take time out from a busy day to relax during lunch.

Focusing on a year full of activities, the Deerfield High School student finds spirit in all phases of school life. Enthusiasm is obvious when Warrior fans display flashing red-and-white school buttons at athletic events. This same spirit appears in a creative form in drama class presentations.

Viewing the year in retrospect, the Deerfield student profited from his contributions in academic areas as well as in extracurricular activities. Excelling in different areas the student was allowed to express his individuality.

Expanding in all phases of life, the student body has outgrown the facilities received six years ago. Appropriations and construction dates are being considered as the students await new and greater dimensions with an eye on the maturation of a still young school.

Without the help and cooperation of innumerable individuals and organizations, there could be no yearbook. I am grateful both to the staff members and to the student body for helping with the production of O*YAD. Special thanks are extended to Mr. Knudson and Mr. Silverwood for their endless assistance, to Walinger Studios and to Taylor Publishing Co. Working with all these people has certainly made this year a memorable one for me.
