DEERFIELD
HIGH SCHOOL

HOME OF THE WARRIORS

Since 1959 Deerfield High School has acted as a second home to us and the other students who have attended it. We have met our best friends and learned life's greatest lessons in the halls of DHS. We have struggled through challenging classes, built bonds with teachers, and formed a community of learners. Deerfield holds a special place in the hearts' of those who have attended it. Its traditions carry on, affecting not only us but those who have come before and those who will walk these halls long after we have graduated. Deerfield will continue to be a powerful force even...

Student Life

Summer

No matter what a student does, summer is always fun. Deerfield High School students often work, go on vacations, visit colleges, attend summer school, and re-live their childhoods by working as camp counselors. This year the Deerfield High School English Department announced that students would have a summer reading requirement. The new summer assignment was met with mixed reactions. Peter Bartoszek, sophomore, was all in favor of it stating "It's a good idea." While senior Amanda Seruya was less enthusiastic when saying, "I thought summer was a time to relax!" Although many grumbled about the 2 or 3 books they had to read the requirement did not stop DHS students from enjoying their 3 months of virtual freedom. Homecoming Spirit

Homecoming, Bungle in the Jungle, was a great success. Homecoming week was fun and exciting, filled with activities such as the Pep Rally, the dance, and annual parade. Many students expressed their homecoming spirit by dressing up for pajama, eighties, jersey, class colors, and red and grey day. With Coach Winiecki's enthusiasm, students were riled up at Friday night's Pep Rally. Both the Poms and Cheerleading Squads performed their long awaited routines, as did the Jesse White Tumblers. Many students helped make the parade a fun and enjoyable experience for all. The Savage Seniors took first place in the spirit jug and also took first place in the parade as the seniors of the millenium. Homecoming Game

This year's homecoming game was a big upset for the Deerfield Football Team. The Warriors led Niles North 8-0 until the fourth quarter. Niles North scored a touchdown and converted the two point attempt to tie the game at 8-8. After a crucial Deerfield fumble with 5 minutes left in the game, Niles North scored again to make the score 16-8 with 44 seconds left in the game. The Warrior's offense put together a miraculous drive and moved the ball 60 yards downfield for the score and conversion. In overtime, another Deerfield fumble and a Vikings touchdown gave the victory to Niles North at 22-16. It was a very emotional game but DHS students were proud of the effort that their team put forward. The crowd yelled loudly and was enthusiastic despite the disappointment. Seen in the surrounding pictures Bryan Goldberg, Dan Wold, Rachel Jourdan, Mac Mansavage, and Carl Buettgen among others show their Deerfield spirit. Students in many organizations become involved in Homecoming including the football team, the cheer squad, Pom Pons, marching band, and color guard put forth many hours of practice and preparation.

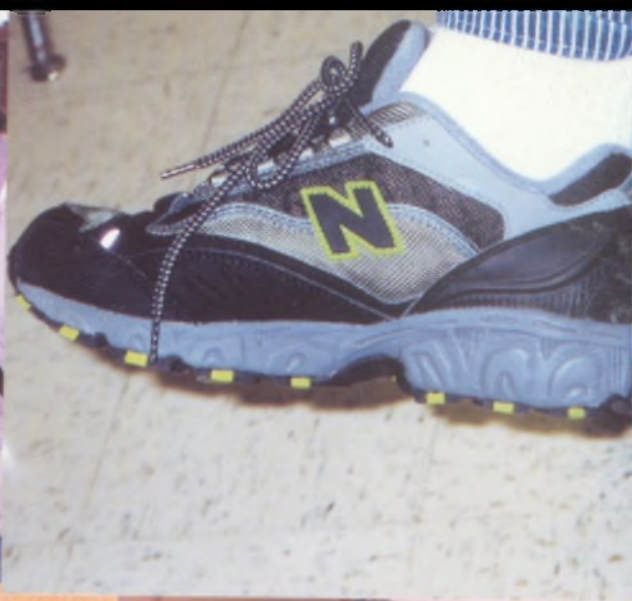

Homecoming Dance

This year's Homecoming Dance started a new tradition at Deerfield. In the past, students had gone to the dance for only 15 minutes, saw their friends, and then went downtown. This year, however, students came to the dance, which was held in the North Gym instead of the Cafeteria, and stayed for 1 hour or more! There was a caricature artist and dinner was catered by Maggiano's. Over 500 people attended and most agreed that it was a big improvement from last year. Seen in surrounding photos: Chelsea Kammerer, Stephanie Pines, Lori Anderson, Kyetan Adamski, Mikey Koerner, Jamie Krakowski, Marissa Maling, Jeremy Silver, Katy Darnaby, Matt London, Jamie Mocogni, Jackie Meadow, Laura Cunniff, Rachel Moss, Carrie Kaufman, Lesley Kulp, Jenny Zabinsky, Illana Dworin, Emily Baum, Jen Gzesh, Katy Roe, Chase Kaplan, Brett Pessis, Lindsay Blanas, Shira Wenig, Emily Israel, Erin Donnelly, Keith Krasney, Jeff Robbins, Aaron Wolf, Jordan Bernstein, Sarah Hadler, Asher Roston, Jami Gilman, Ashley Lauth, Nicole Brown, Evan Carroll, Annie Hoffman, Scott Yacyshyn, Nick Rossie, Mike Bruszer, John Glatt, Ethan Birnberg and others enjoy the Homecoming Dance.

Students at Deerfield show their style in many ways. While most shop at a few select stores, some try to branch out in different ways. One can often tell a lot about a person by the way they dress and how they choose to present themselves.

Chicago

Seniors Rosanna Gomez and Mariko Kinoshita explore the unique architecture of Chicago.

Students enjoyed frolicking in Lake Michigan and admiring the Cows this summer. Chicago artists impressed all of DHS by decorating such ornate pieces.

The ethnic areas of Chicago provide amusement for those looking to explore different cultures and tasty foods. The House of Blues provides an exciting night life for DHS students.

Chicago is both a mystery and diversion for Deerfield students. The big city is the very opposite of Deerfield, filled with diversity and more entertainment options than anyone can imagine. DHS students can be found exploring famous Chicago sites including the Sears Tower, the Art Institute, The Museum of Science and Industry, The Field Museum, Disney Quest and of course the notorious Michigan Avenue. Often DHS students venture into the Windy City to shop for the latest fashions. Chicago is, by far, any teenagers favorite hangout.

Students often enjoy watching sporting events in Chicago at Wrigley Field. DHS students never get sick of shopping at trendy stores.

Soldier Field is often a destination for Deerfield students as it houses both sporting events and concerts. Buckingham Fountain is a traditional landmark of Chicago

Deerfield natives enjoy shopping and exploring virtual activities at Disney Quest. The city atmosphere is both daunting and thrilling.

Weekends

Deerfield High School students look forward to the weekends. Weekends are a time to relax, to experience new places, to have lots of fun, and to take a break from school. Naturally, there are many different things to do on the weekends. Common things during the day include shopping at Northbrook Court or Old Orchard, going downtown, or just sitting around the house and relaxing. A typical evening might consist of going out to dinner, driving around for a few hours and then, at around eleven o'clock, landing someplace to hang out. Unfortunately, many of us have to be home by curfew! In addition, some other popular things to do on the weekends are going bowling at Brunswick and going to the movies. Some students also visit colleges. All in all, students love their weekends. Seen in the surrounding photos Emily Israel, Shira Wenig, Shay Jessop, Greg Hasenhuettl, Ryan Boothe, Amanda Seruya, Tracy Jacobson, Kate Levinson, Mel Caron, Bobby Berman, Kristy Lynn, Jason Forman, Bryan Goldberg, Todd Boothe, Carrie Baizer, Julie Yap, Jen Braun, Stephinie Pines, Tamar Weinberg, Dahlia Weinberg, Chad Eisenberg, Larry Serota, Tom Setteneri, Mike Levin, Ben Reich, Logan Baren, and others enjoying their weekends.

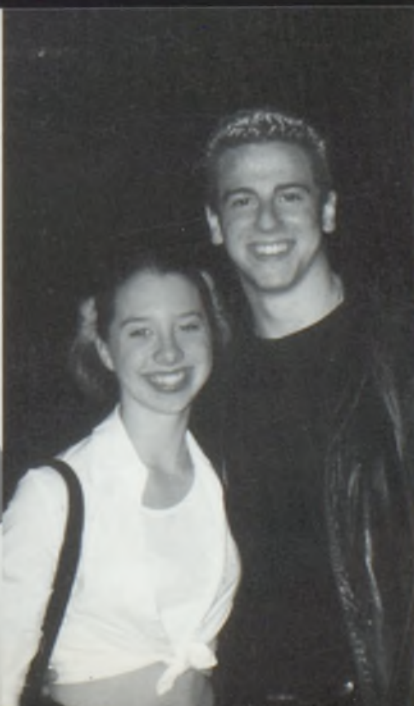

Dating

Deerfield students, like most other high schoolers, are preoccupied with the opposite sex. Many spend time on the weekends trying to meet people and devote a great amount of time to either their boyfriend or girlfriend. For many, high school is one's first experience with love and loss. Relationships are very important to students and those currently involved take their obligations to their partner very seriously. However, not all DHS students date people who also go to Deerfield. Many find boyfriends or girlfriends in surrounding high schools or even in colleges. Students can often be found on dates at the Northbrook Court movie theater, Chili's, and Blockbuster searching out the perfect video to watch while snuggling with someone special. Halloween

October 31st continued to be a favorite day for Deerfield students although many would think that Halloween fun ended after grade school. DHS students enjoyed trick-or-treating, Halloween parties, and of course dressing up. Costumes of all sorts were seen in the halls of Deerfield High School as students dressed as their favorite movie stars, sports stars, animals, and even inanimate objects. Halloween allowed students to throw off their old identity and have fun being somebody else. Some teachers worried about the costumes being a distraction in class, but students didn't seem to mind. For many Halloween is the most fun day of the year. Fine Arts

Students at Deerfield High School are passionate not only about their studies but also about their hobbies. Numerous students devote time and energy to the fine arts. For many it is a way to release stress and express creativity. Interests are varied but painting, drawing, sculpting, photography, and acting are always popular. Students who do not participate in the arts often enjoy them. There are many art displays and plays performed yearly. For example, The Skin of Our Teeth was an amazing performance put together by the DHS fine arts department. As Steve Heisler, Senior, said, "The show couldn't of looked better." The cast often had very long rehearsals but as Sophomore Zaq Couture said, "In the end, it was worth it." Every actor gave it their all and it really showed. The time and dedication put into The Skin Of Our Teeth really paid off. In the days before the production, the cast and crew showed thier school spirit by wearing the same T-shirts or wearing all black. After the production, students around the shcool were extremely impressed by the actors, its incredible that the person who may sit next to you every day in class is the same person who took the lead role in the production.

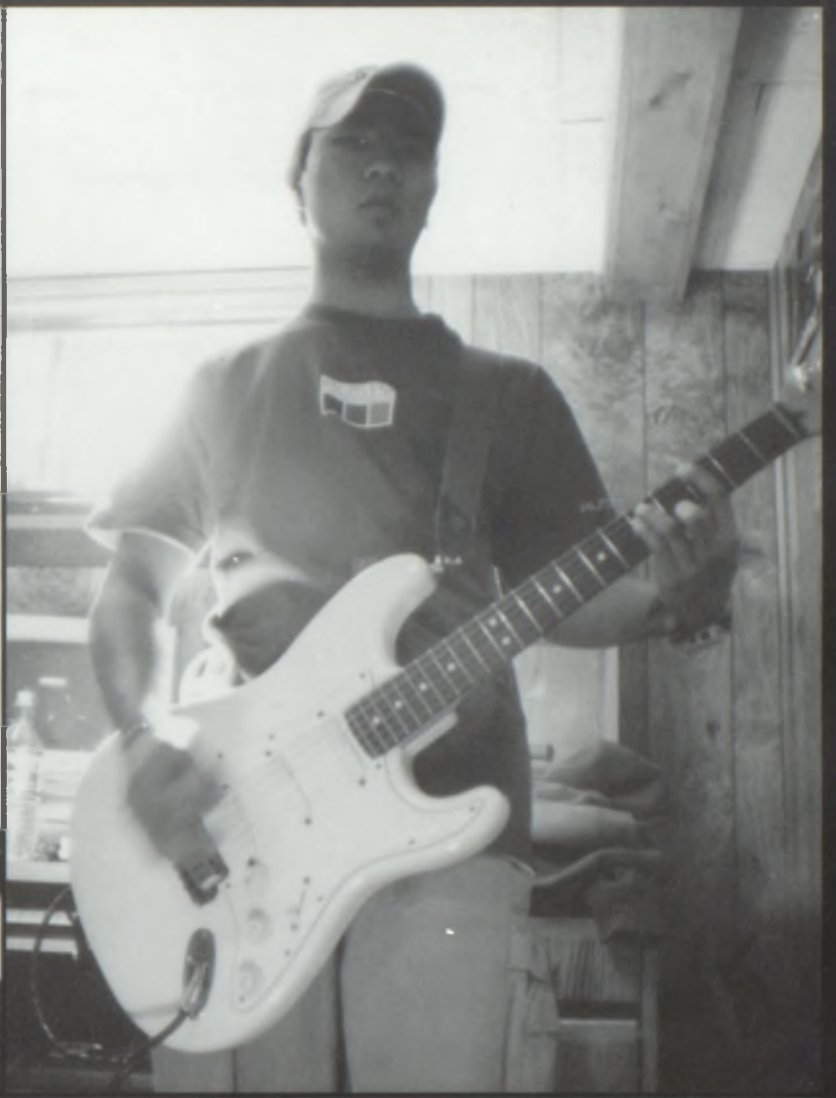

Academics

Creativity

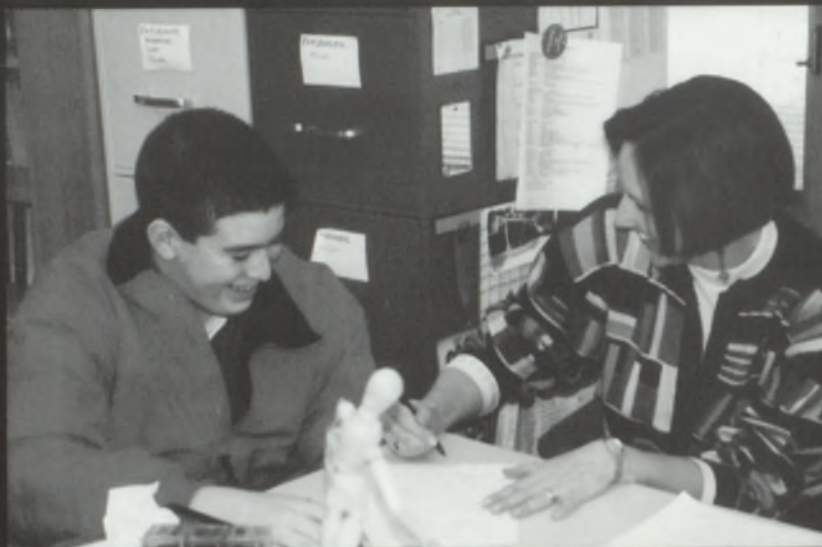

Deerfield High School students express their talents both in and outside of the classroom. Many teachers especially in the arts, foreign language, and English departments try to spark imagination and originality in their students. However, even the math and science departments at Deerfield do their best to allow students to explore individually. For example, Dr. Hoyer's AP Environmental Science class does individualized projects third quarter that allow students to explore something of interest to them on a large scale. Jamie Brown, junior, fondly remembers her project which focused on the economic burden of environmental waste when saying, "The individual project allowed me to concentrate on environmental concerns that I thought were important. It really made a difference in my understanding and appreciation for the subject matter." In addition, students are often encouraged to speak their minds in the classroom. Most upperclassman English courses are now almost entirely discussion based. Most students appreciate that freedom and responsibility. Newly created computer graphics courses also allow students to try their hand at a new technological form of art. Most find the classes challenging and computer graphics courses often inspire students to further pursue graphic design. However, DHS students excel not only in an academic setting but also outside of school. Countless individuals have their own bands, paint, sculpt, or write purely for their own enjoyment. This creative initiative is supported at Deerfield High School by annual events such as Battle of the Bands (Ravinia Night), Stage Write, art contests such as The Great Frame Up, and the annual WERCS writing contest. These events are widely participated in and attended. Students at DHS who do not participate in any of the above activities often have a great respect for those who do. People always can be seen in the halls looking at the student art displays. Seen in the surrounding photos Justin Lock and Eva Snyder explore their artistic talents.

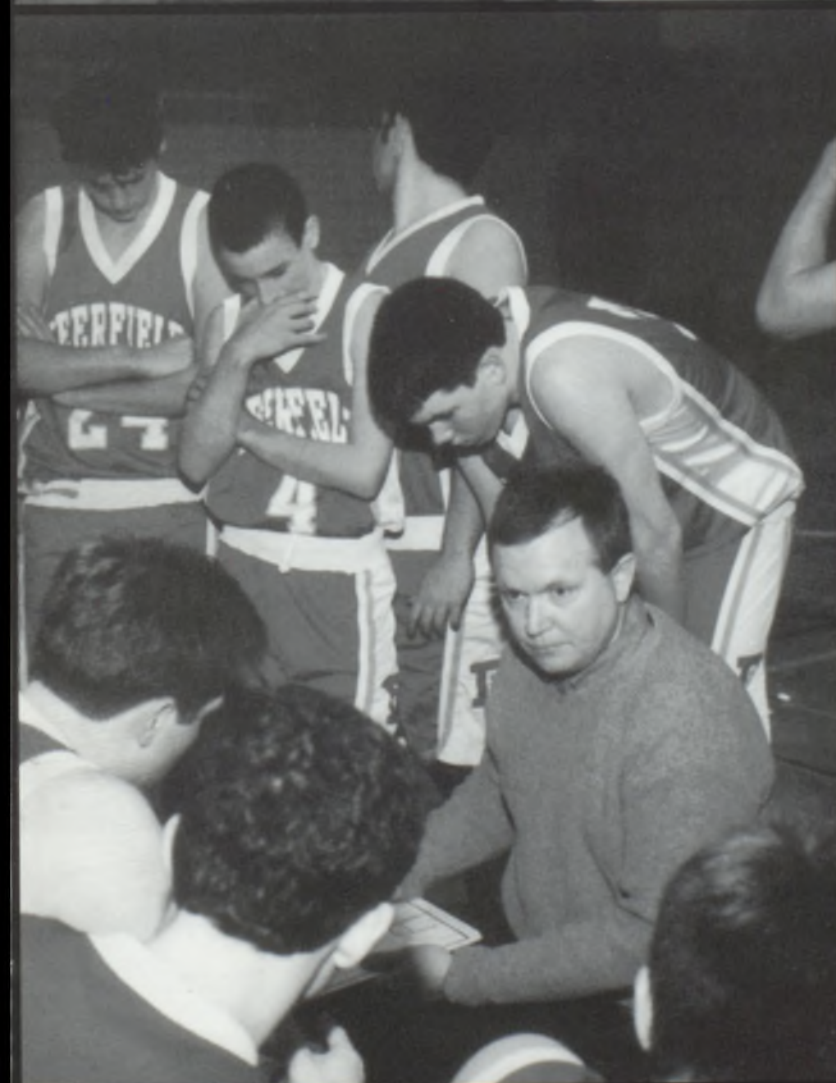

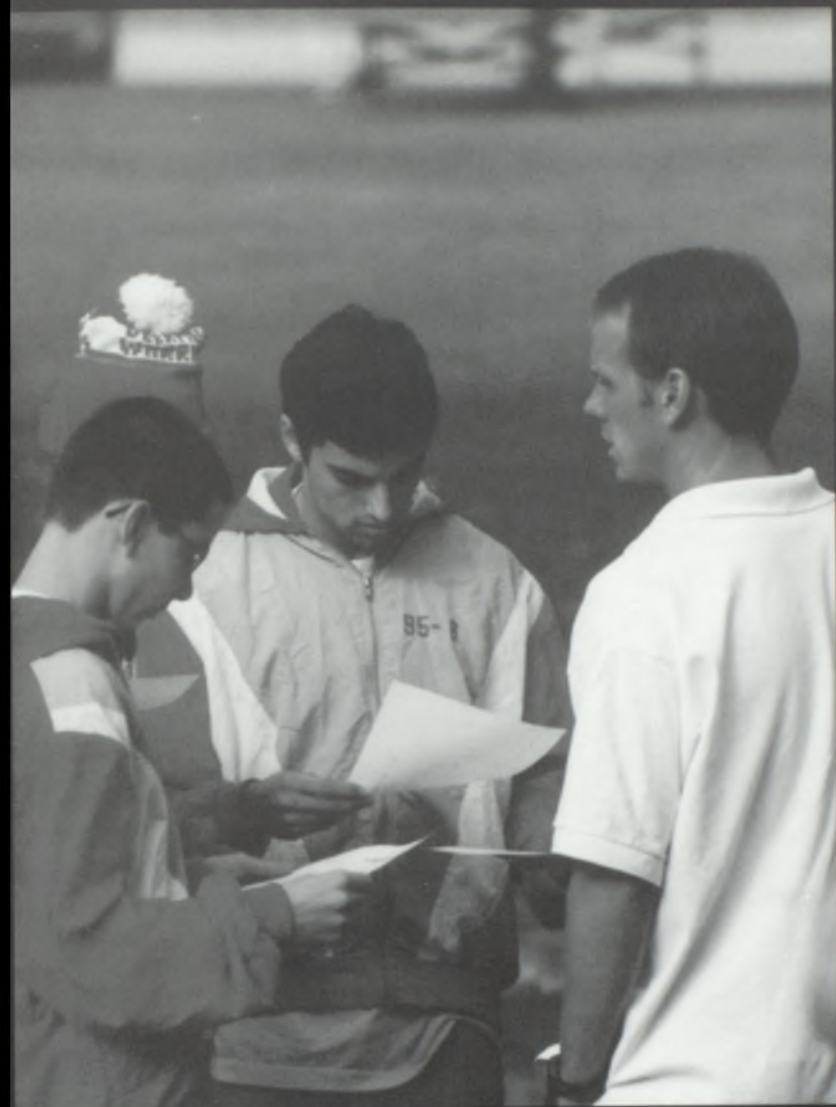

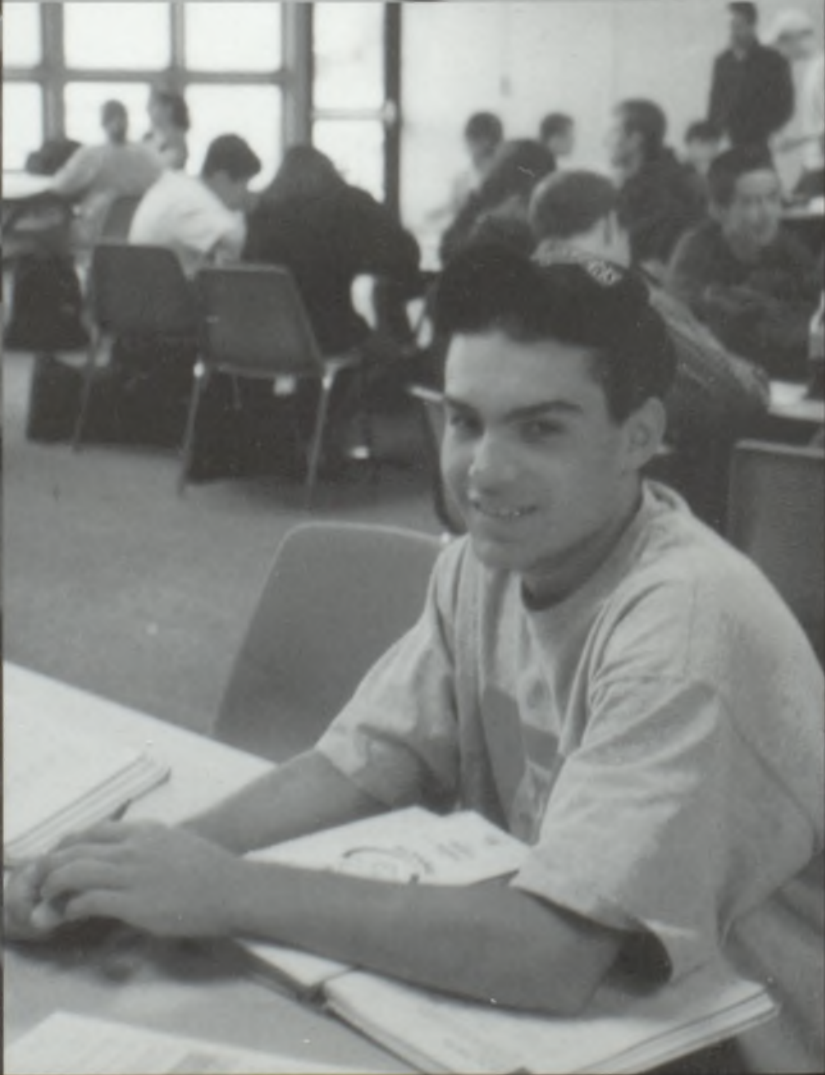

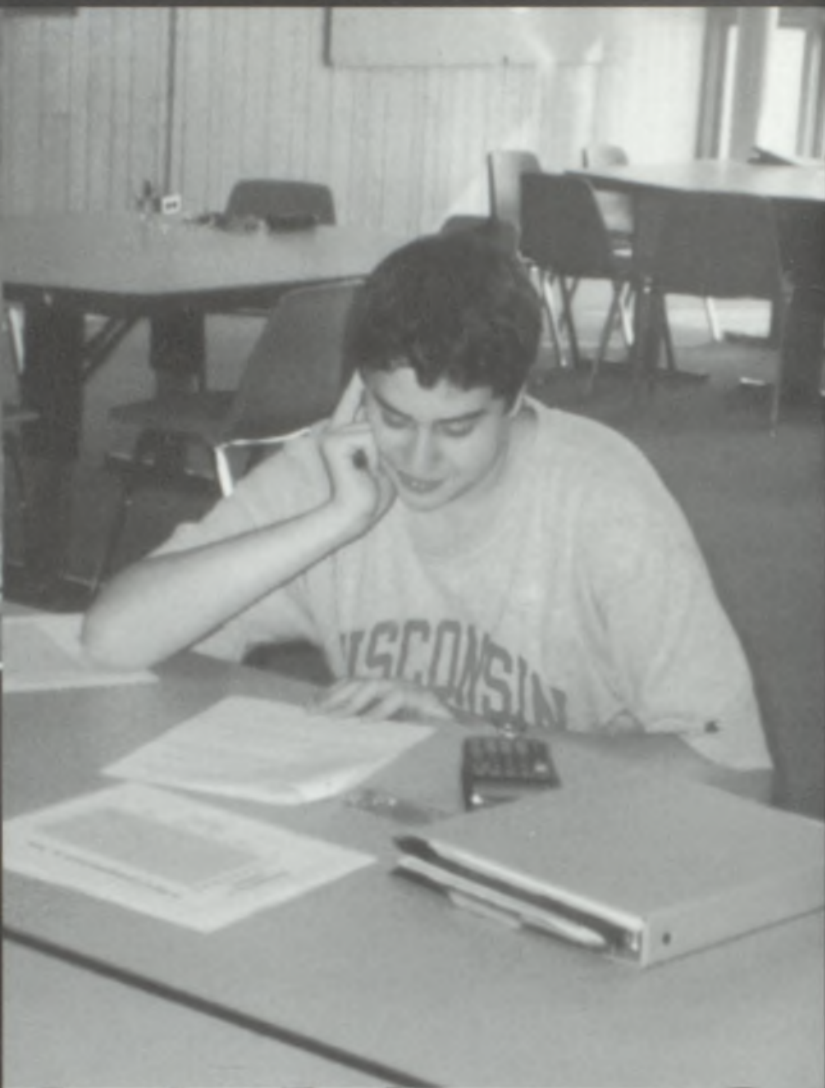

Student-Teacher Relationships

At Deerfield High School students grow close to not only their fellow classmates but also to their teachers. Teachers at DHS put in a great deal of effort in order to be available for students. Students either make appointments to speak to their teachers or just drop by. Whatever the case, the DHS faculty is widely accessible to those who need additional help in any subject matter. Teachers are not only classroom instructors but also trusted mentors. Most faculty members become involved with students in other activities outside of the classroom and give up their valuable free time to help enrich the lives of Deerfield students. For example, Ms. Dorigan an art teacher at DHS does not have a traditional lunch period. Rather, she is generous enough to give her time to the O*Yad, the school yearbook, both during lunch periods every day and after school. Some teachers even come in during the weekends to help students out before a big test. Especially popular weekends to meet are the Saturdays right before AP exams. Most AP teachers come in and donate their own time to help students review. In addition, teachers can often help students tackle problems that might be completely removed from the classroom. Teachers serve as valuable role models and are often willing to listen to the concerns of their students. As seniors graduate from Deerfield High School most are certain that they will never forget one key teacher. Every student usually finds one adult in the Deerfield community who they can connect and relate well to. Many participate in Senior Teach Day, an opportunity for seniors to try on the lifestyle of one of their favorite teachers. This day along with four years of wonderful interaction inspires many DHS graduates to pursue a career in teaching. Seen in the surrounding photos Calli Giametta, Steve Heisler, Amanda Seruya, Craig Mandell, and Stephanie Handler all enjoy time with their teachers away from the classroom.

Homework

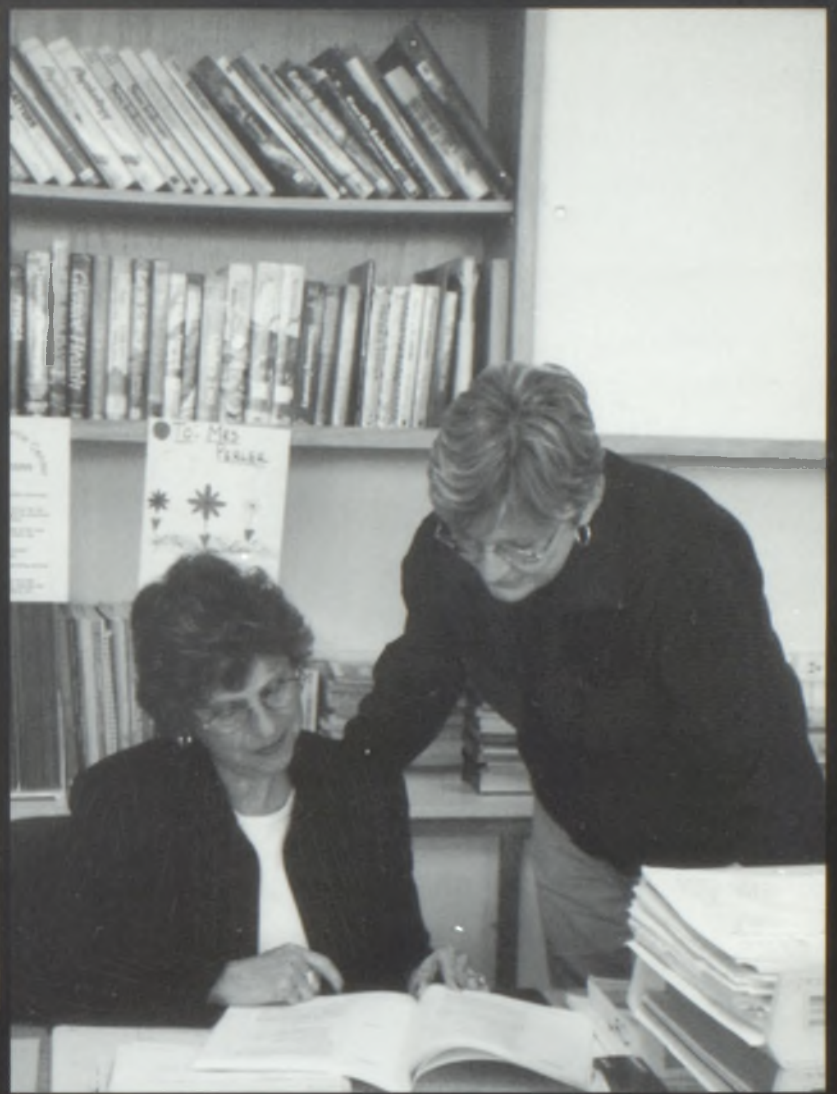

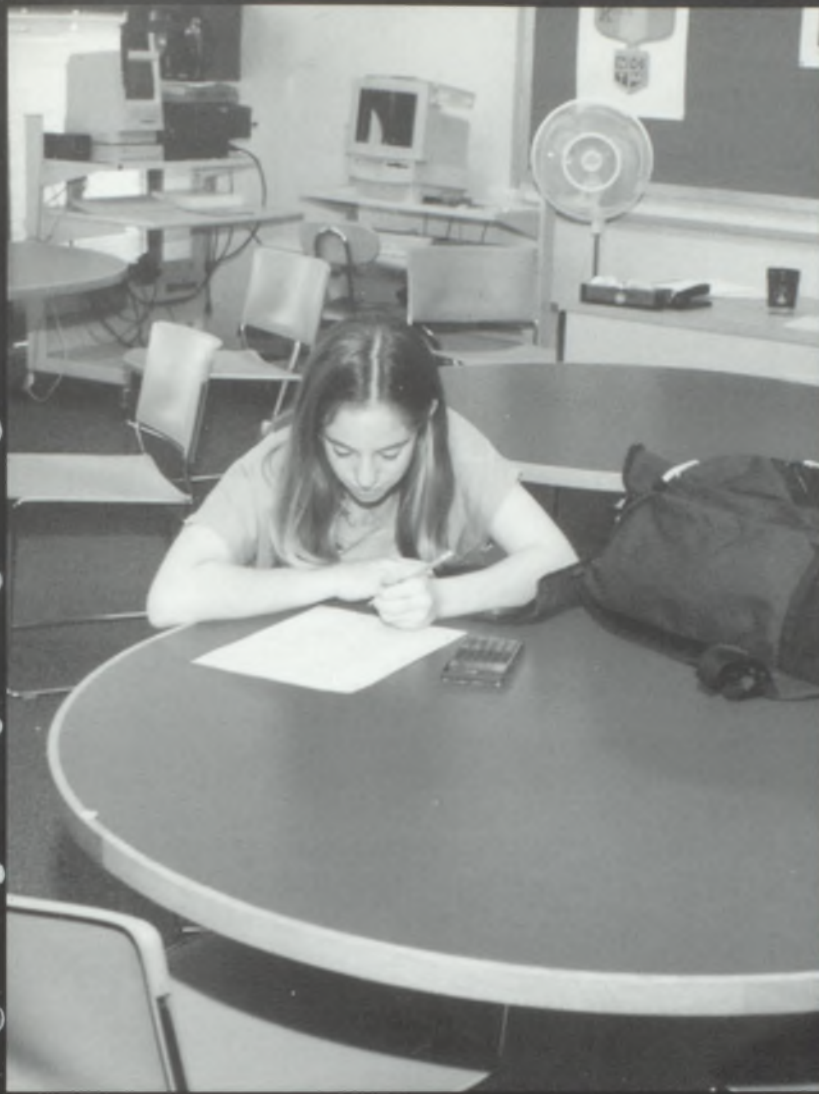

Homework is a very important aspect of daily life for students at DHS. Some students receive as much as four to five hours every night. Others go home with less than an hour of assignments to complete. For the lucky senior homework is a thing of the past. "I love coming home after seventh period and having time to relax, watch t.v. and talk on the phone," says senior Julie Yap. While many students do their homework at home, they can also be found working in various locations around school. These include the group study center, the cafeteria, the library, and the school's various resource centers. These resource centers provide both assistance and quiet during the hectic school day. Lucky students with free periods are able to take advantage of their time to get a portion of their work done. For the junior, homework never ceases. Between ACT testing, the introduction of AP classes and the added stress of near college decisions juniors hardly ever find a restful night at home. "I don't have a minute of peace when I get home from school. There's always something to do," says junior, Jamie Brown. Seen in the surrounding photos Sarah Mick, Adam Moulder, Jamie Riegelhaupt, Mike Reid, Aron Chudnoff, Shoshanna Ostrum, Brittany Yoelin, Stephanie Pines, Brittany Johnson, Chelsea Kammerer and Carrie Baizer all prepare for the next day of classes.

Resource Centers

Students at Deerfield High School can be seen throughout the day reinforcing what is learned in the classroom in a variety of locations. The library is open before school starts and does not close until 4:00 p.m. which gives students an ample opportunity to check out books, do research, surf the internet or just do homework. Both the listening and speaking labs aid foreign language students in fluency and comprehension. Often students are assigned to watch movies in the lab or take their missed quizzes there. Extra math help is always available before, after, and during school hours in the math lab. For many students, this is the most useful resource center. Many DHS students spend time doing out of class math work in the lab. English students can find much needed help in the WERCS with essay writing and reading comprehension. A variety of computer labs give students access to the internet, research equipment, and a place to type up their essays. Student volunteers spend two periods a week in the WERCS. However, many like the time they spend there saying that it offers them a time to relax. The faculty advisors in the WERCS are widely respected as many seniors don't hesitate to ask for help on their college essays. Young scientists experiment in the vivarium with the many animals and plants. Pierre the parrot is among the favorites. He can often be heard singing in the morning and during class. Seen in the surrounding photos Lindsay Nayler, Loren Silvertrust, Ryan Levy, Hillary Scharmann, Mark Berman, Ellie Nick, and Jenny Eck get help in one of DHS's many resource centers.

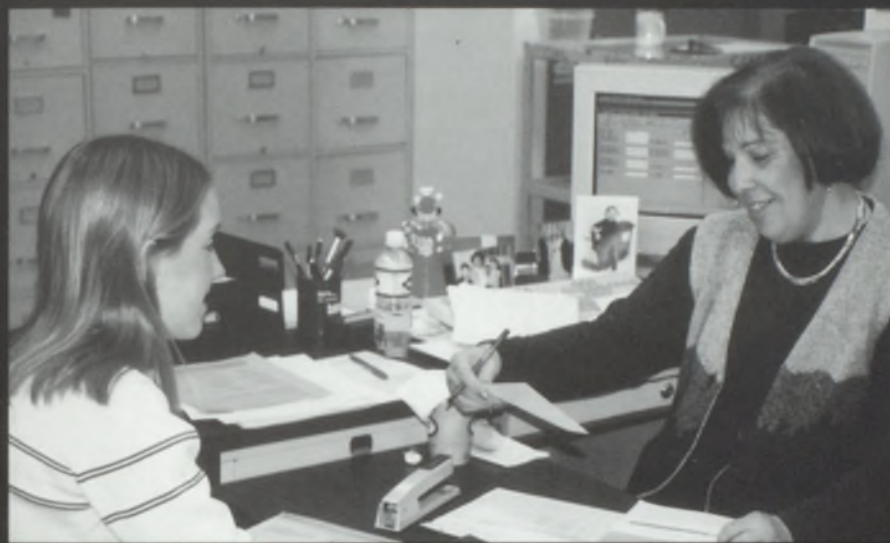

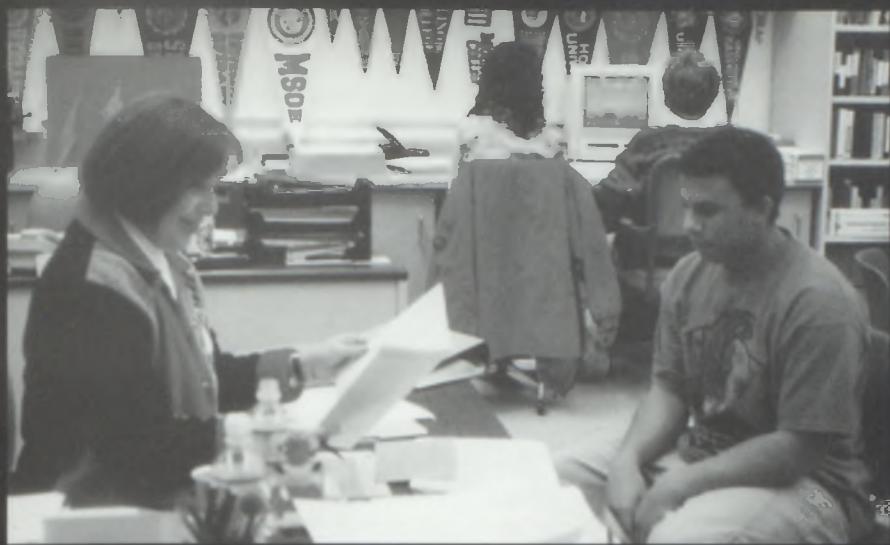

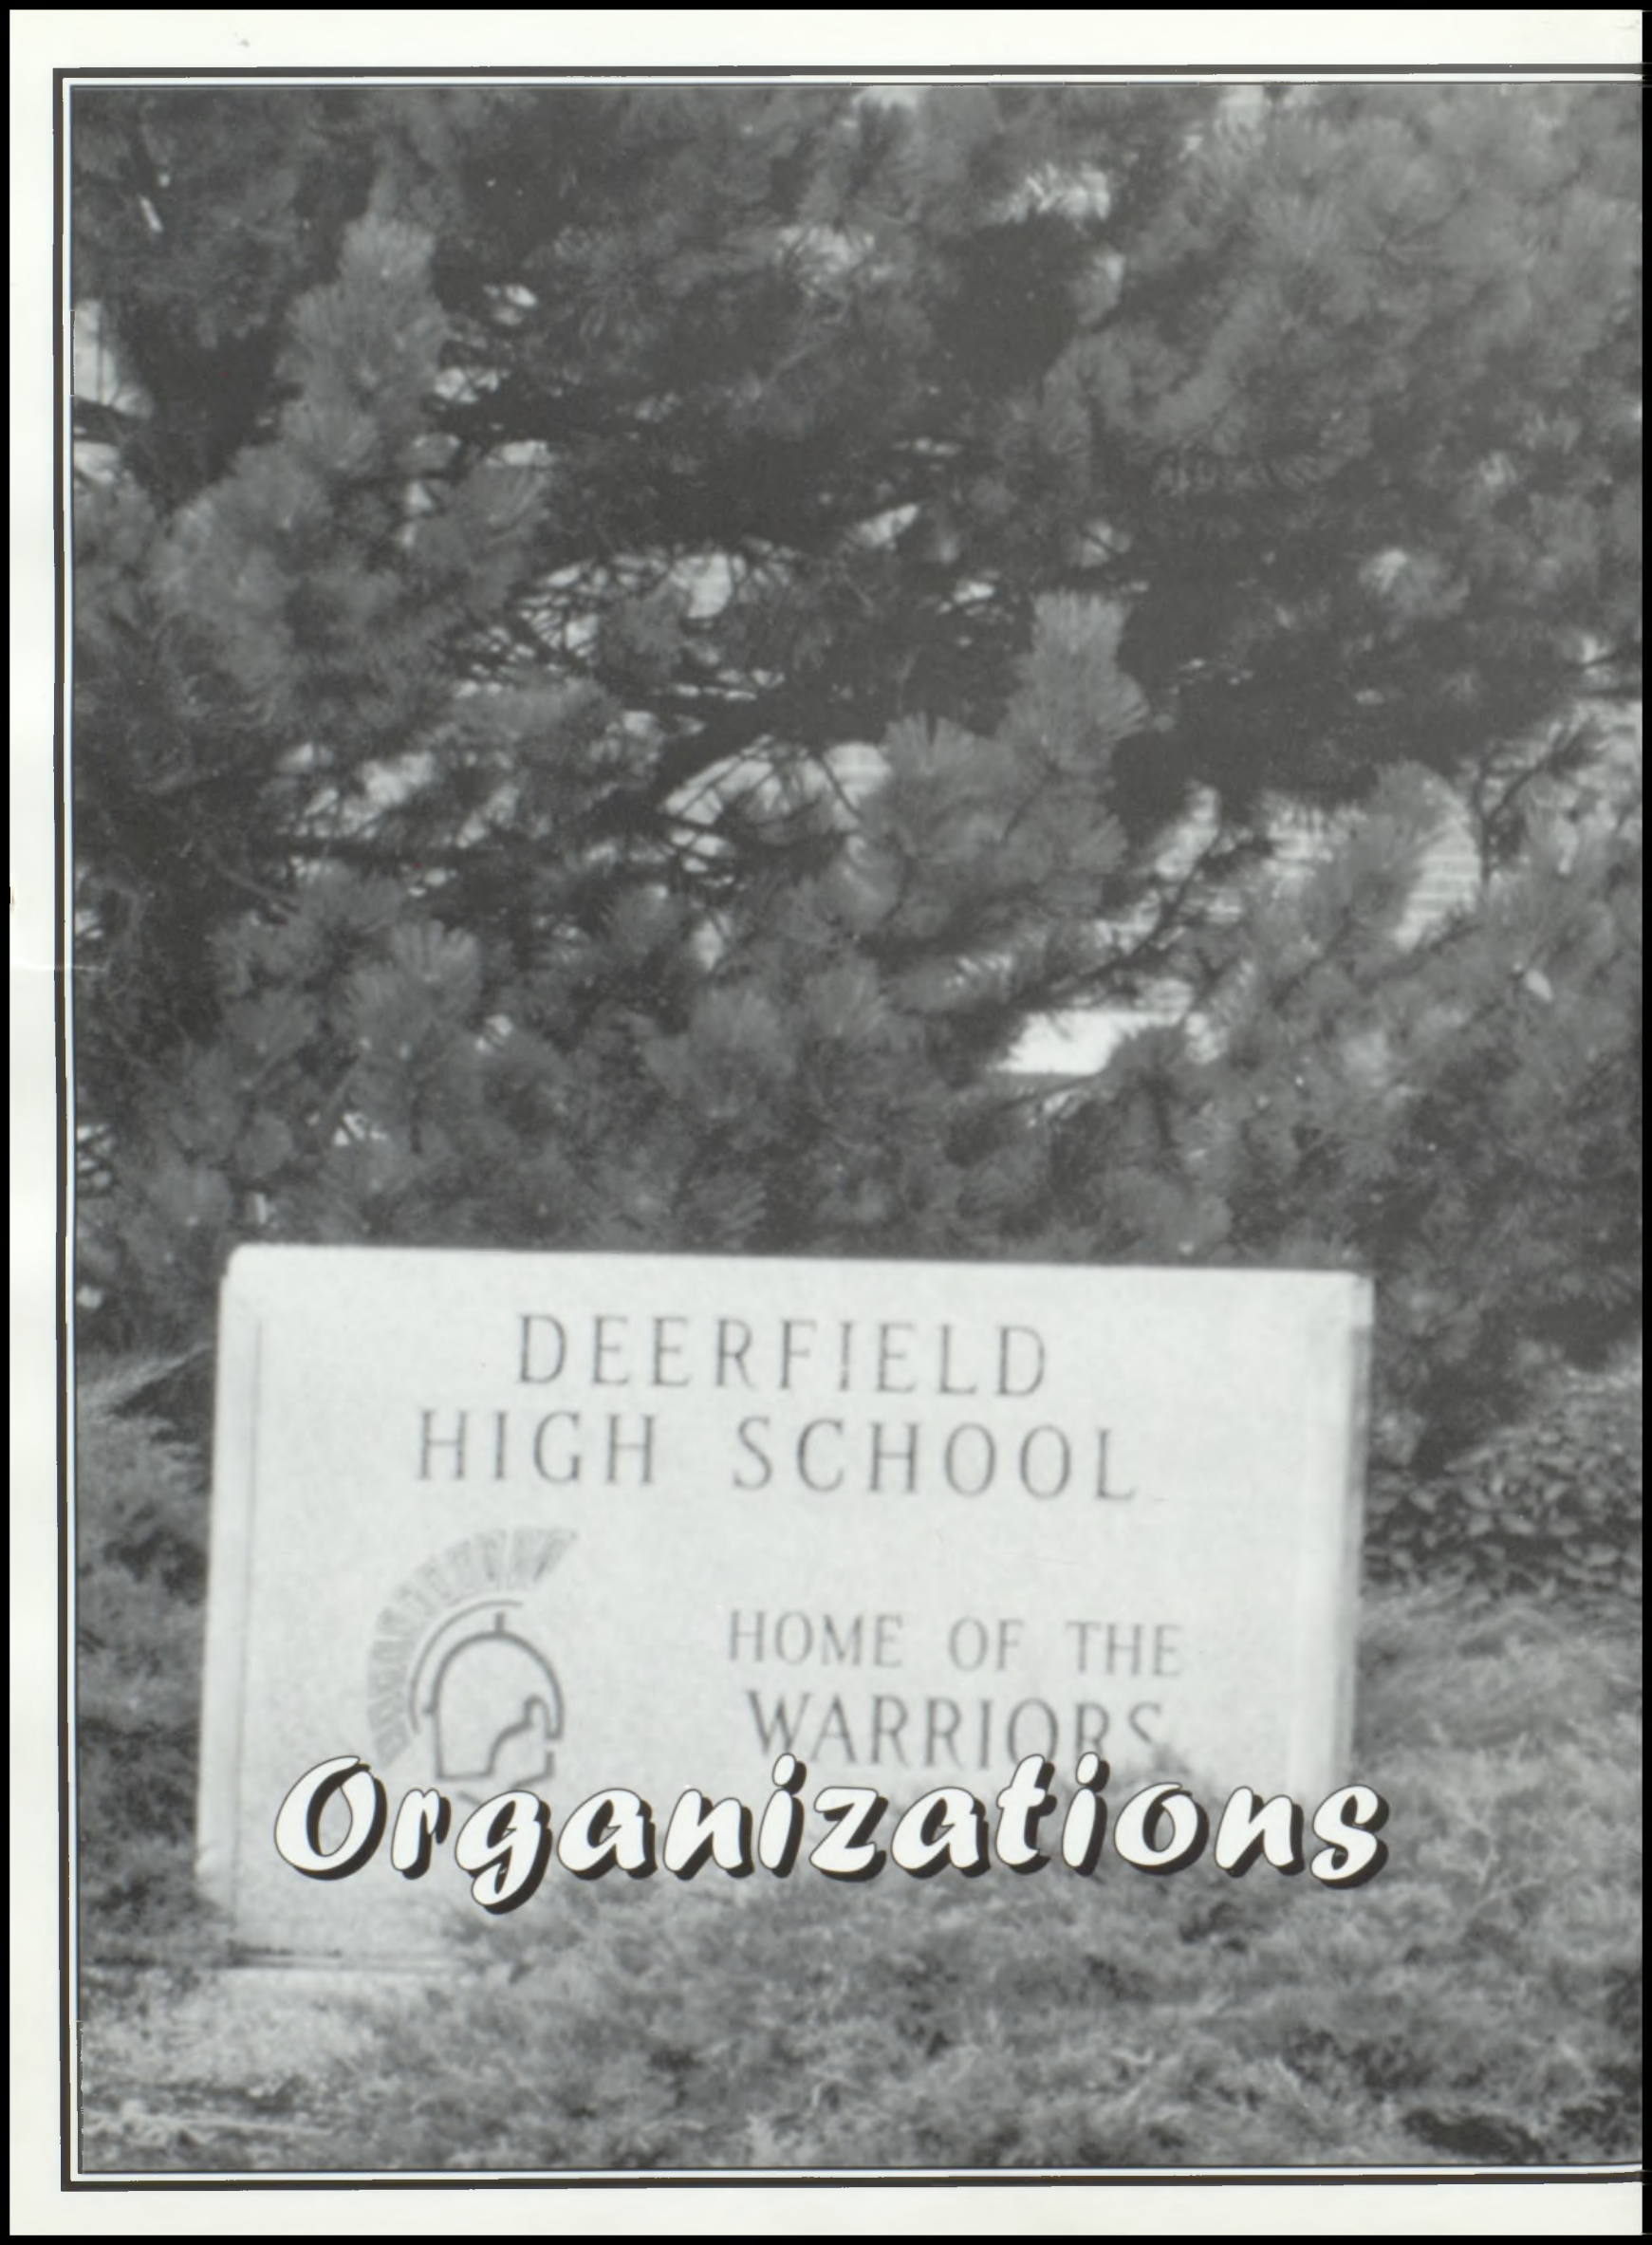

College

College is both a source of excitement and worry for Deerfield High School students. Some begin thinking about the college process when they enter DHS while others don't consider their options until well into their junior year. Senior Jamie Riegelhaupt remembers, "When I came to high school I already knew the schools I wanted to apply to. But it was only last year that I finally figured out the best place for me." Regardless, senior year is dominated by nervous emotions and incessant anticipation. Deerfield students regularly visit college campuses across the country. Many get a better idea of what kind of campus they are looking for and where they will be happy. "When I first saw Tulane University, I knew it was perfect. It was so beautiful," said senior Amanda Seruya. High schoolers expect college to be an academic challenge as well as the best years of their lives. They eagerly await the parties, professors, and freedom. However, there is a small part of them that is scared--scared of the unknown. For many of us DHS students, Deerfield has been our only home. The halls of DHS are familiar and we know most everyone in our graduating class. But as college approaches, seniors rest assured that they have been well prepared for what they will encounter in the classroom. Graduate Mike Yanovsky said, "I was scared the first day of my lecture. But afterwards I knew it would be easy thanks to DHS." Seen in the surrounding photos CCRC workers Mrs. Luskin, Mrs. Leiderman, Mrs. Keefe, and other volunteers aid college bound seniors. Jessie Gitles, Amanda Seruya, Amy Budke, Cari Himmelstein, Sarah Hadler, Greg Gannegan, Tracy Jacobson, Mel Caron, and Brittany Katz learn about their college options.

Jazz Band, Marching Band, Making Music Syphonic Band, Wind Ensemble

The Deerfield High School Bands put in an amount amazing of effort. This energy was rewarded this year when the bands got to take a trip to Walt Disney World in Orlando, Florida. The band was honored that they could play in such a high-profile place. The trip proved to be exciting, and fulfilling. In addition, the marching band proved its talent at the annual Sycamore Marching Band Competition. This year the band was led by Seniors Ian Marks and Dahlia Weinberg. Deerfield swept the competition and proved themselves to be one of the best high school bands in Illinois. While participating in band is often hard work students enjoy the time they spend with Mr. Brame, the band director. The bands put on numerous concerts during the school year which fellow students and family members enjoy seeing. It is often hard for band members to balance busy practice schedules with grueling amounts of homework but somehow they manage to succeed.

Color Guard, Concert Orchestra, The Sound of Music Symphony Orchestra

Mr. Emmons conducted the orchestra through another successful year. As usual, the orchestras performed in three concerts held at Deerfield High School. These concerts allowed the musicians the opportunity to showcase their hard work. Students and parents enjoy coming support their family and friends. Another highlight this year was a trip to Orlando which included a concert in Disney World.

For musical talent and passion, one needs to look no further than the DHS choral groups. Many students are involved with one or more of the singing groups. The chorus groups perform in various concerts throughout the year, showcasing a wide range of musical sources, from traditional songs to complex compositions in foreign languages. The Choraliers are the show choir at DHS. Their performances reflect hours of the hard work needed to perfect both singing and dancing routines. The Chorale is a huge group of students passionate about song and this year they have had the honor of being invited to sing in Orlando, Florida at Disney World.

MAME

In mid March the musical Mame took place on the auditorium stage. Directed by Carl Menninger, Choreographed by Karen Hall, music directed by Alicia Akers, conducted by Charles Emmons, Technical direction by Eric Gameau, and artistically enhanced by scene painter Tim Bleck. This production came to life through the hard work and dedication of all branches of the fine art department. Mame is a story of a lady who lives an extravagant lifestyle. Senior Robin Kacyn filled the role of Mame brilliantly senior Courtney Jacobs brought the comedic character of Agnes Gooch to life in full measure. Freshmen Aron Rosenthal played his role very professionally. the company certainly satisfied the 2000+ patrons who where singing show tunes all next day.

The many factors that brought the play together cannot go unmentioned, stage crew worked on the 18-foot high set for nearly four months. The orchestra brought a harmonious contribution to the musica. Mr. Bleck and his students worked on the artwork for Mame's apartment as well the clouds and other miscellaneous tasks, and cast did and exceptional job. Many people contributed to the success of the musical play of Mame. Through hard work and dedication, Mame is definitely a hard act to follow.

Putting on the Show

Stunts, Theatrix

Stunts is the annual student written, performed, and produced theatrical variety show. This year's theme was "Are We There Yet?", which featured many sketches and songs having to do with travel. The show reflected many hours of hard work by different groups of talented individual. The performers were divided into the Comedy Troupe, Musical Theatre Troupe, and the Dance Troupe. All the music for the show was written, conducted, and performed by the students in the Stunts Band, and the stage crew worked behind the scenes to insure the show ran smoothly. In addition, groups also wrote and performed their own auditioned "Original Stunts", and various bands from Deerfield High School provided a wide range of music and creativity for the audience. Theatrix, the drama club at DHS, is comprised of students who have a passion for theater. Each spring they perform scenes showcasing their abilities.

Stage Crew

Behind the Scene

The stage crew is responsible for all technical aspects of the theater. Annually, more than forty students are part of the production crew. These students work year round with the goal of completing, creating, and organizing various aspects of all shows. From choral concerts to "The Skin of our Teeth", from "Mame", and even Mr. DHS members of the crew run shows under the direction of technical director, Eric Garneau. It takes several weeks for the stage crew to build sets. All of this building takes place within an atmosphere of friendly conversation and music. When the last nail has been pounded, the set piece painted, and the last light focused, the stage crew has achieved its ultimate goal, and the show goes on! During the show the stage crew aids with makeup, costumes, and help change the sets. Without a hard working stage crew, no show could be successful!

French, Spanish, and National Honor Society

One of the highest academic honors one can achieve while at Deerfield High School is the induction into one of the three honor societies. Merit, leadership, service, and character are all elements of entering National Honors Society. A invitation into the society requires a specific grade point average, and members are required to be involved with the community, whether it be Early Bird tutoring or volunteering at a hospital. For the Spanish and French Honor Societies, an understanding of culture and exceptional grasp of the language is required to enter these prestigious clubs.

O*YAD, Deerprints, W-DHS

Deerfield High School publications including the yearbook, O*Yad, the newspaper, Deerprints, and the television production, WDHS, require a lot of work from students. Members of each of these clubs can often be seen after school working hard. DHS students are appreciative of their peers work as everyone is excited when WDHS comes on in the morning or when they receive their yearbooks. O*Yad members including Editors-In-Chief Tracy Jacobson and Sarah Mick feel privileged that they get to work on a publication that DHS students will keep for a lifetime. In addition, students on the publications often become lifelong friends. For example, Jacobson and Mick, both seniors, have been working together on O*Yad since freshman year and have formed a great relationship because of it. It is often difficult for the publications to make deadlines but they always do a great job.

DECA, Model UN, Life Lessons Student Congress, Troubadour

DECA, Model UN, Student Congress, and Troubadour allows students to simulate real life experiences. These organizations help students prepare for careers in the business world, international politics, national debate, and literature. DECA is a nation-wide business club that is highly competitive. The Deerfield High School DECA club has continually won at both the regional and state levels. Model United Nations simulates negotiations, problem solving, and legislation that occur on the international level. DHS is often very successful as this year seniors Tracy Jacobson and Ryan Podolsky won the Outstanding Delegate award at the Harvard Model United Nations Security Council, one of the most competitive committees. In addition, senior Nick Zwang has participated and won an award in a model Russian Cabinet. Student Congress is Deerfield High School's debate team. Members discuss at local tournaments many pressing issues including abortion, gun control, and capital punishment. The team has been very successful winning many first place titles across the state. Troubadour is Deerfield's literary magazine. It is a collaboration of stories, poems, drawings, and photographs all created by DHS students.

Scholastic Bowl, WYSE, Is that your final answer? Mathletes, DASA

Scholastic Bowl, WYSE, Mathletes, and DASA give DHS students a chance to showcase their knowledge. After only its third year at DHS, Scholastic Bowl had an incredible season almost placing first in its division. WYSE is a competition concentrated in science and engineering and has consistently done well. This year the team made it to the state competition in Champaign, Illinois. Mathletes battle against other schools challenging their math skills. DASA engineers model rockets and then launch their rockets in the air.

Writing Club, Urban Excursion, New Explorations Earthworks, Chess Club, Art Club

Students at Deerfield High School are able to explore many activities that they may not have otherwise tried. For example, the Writing Club asks participants to stretch their imaginations as does the Art Club. For those seeking adventure in the city, Urban Excursion is a perfect activity. It allows students to explore different places in Chicago that they might not have ever been. It exposes Deerfield students to lifestyles and culture that would otherwise be foreign. The Chess Club helps students develop superb analytical skills necessary for the game of chess. Recently, members has done very well both as individuals and a team. Finally, Earthworks is an organization formed to educate DHS about environmental concerns. Members meet often to discuss and explore new ways to get young people involved with the environment. Earthworks often produces television clips on WDHS to remind students to re-use and recycle.

WERCS, and Early Bird Tutors Sophomores Mentors

Many students at DHS volunteer their time and energy to assist their peers with schoolwork. WERCS and WERCS Plus Tutors sacrifice free periods during the day to help others develop their English skills including the development of essays and comprehension of literature. The WERCS also often serves as a hang out for students looking to relax. Sophomore Mentors, much like WERCS tutors, help to enforce English skills. Before school Early Bird Tutors can be found aiding fellow students in a variety of subjects. The Early Bird Tutors deserve a great deal of respect as they give up precious sleep in order to help peers! Tutoring is often beneficial for both people; one is able to gain a greater understanding of a subject after teaching it to someone else.

Student Activities Board, Curriculum Committee Representing the Students Student Council, First Class Committee

At Deerfield, the Student Council, Student Activities Board, Student Curriculum Committee, and the First Class Committee allow students to express their opinions about DHS. This direct involvement gives the administration a chance to improve the school from a student's viewpoint. Often these representatives have a great impact on the atmosphere of Deerfield High School. The Student Council sponsors School Chest, the annual three week activity in which the school raises money for a selected charity. This year School Chest benefited the Starlight Foundation for Children. The organization inspired many to find creative ways to contribute to this cause and think

Freshman, Sophomore, Executive Board Junior and Senior Exec

The Executive Boards are comprised of students who represent each class. Freshman year representatives are chosen in freshman advisory classes. These students apply each year to participate in the sophomore, junior and senior executive boards. Meetings are held throughout the year. While there are teacher sponsors, major decisions and planning is done primarily by the students. They help to promote class unity and plan various activities throughout the year. Senior Boat party, Pep Rally, Homecoming, Prom, and other dances are just a few of the things the exec boards coordinate.

Senior Advisors Taking Charge Senior PE Leaders

Each year Senior Advisors and Senior PE Leaders are selected. These programs are special opportunities for seniors to get involved with and help underclassman adjust to high school life. They truly help to form the future of DHS. Senior P.E. Leaders start training for their job during junior year when they take a rigorous PE class that teaches them the rules and safety procedures of all activities that underclassman participate in during PE class. Then senior year, these individuals aid gym teachers in the activities and evaluations of students during the course of a school year. Freshman year is a new and sometimes difficult time for many students. Senior Advisors help freshman take on the new challenges of high school. Senior Advisors participate in the freshman processing groups and give up a free period in order to serve as a mentor in freshman advisory classes.

Care, SOS, Helping Out Peer Helping

Many Deerfield High School students devote time to giving back to the community. Organizations that concentrate efforts on helping others are often the most rewarding extracurriculars. SOS is club committed to charity work. Among other things, they take several trips to the Taylor House for children and sponsored a collection of prom dresses. SOS then gave the formal wear they collected to other needy teachers who wouldn't ordinarily have had the opportunity to go to prom. Peer Helpers volunteer to help transfer students with the sometimes difficult transition into the world of Deerfield High School. Peer Helpers are trained in the areas of problem solving and communication. In addition, Peer Helpers meet weekly in small groups in order to help fellow members work through their problems effectively. This is the most enjoyable component of peer helping according to most members. CARE provides an open forum for students to share their opinions and take in new ideas within a friendly environment. CARE members discuss a wide range of topics. Most often, the student-driven discussions are based around the important issues in a student's life and the world around them. Students say they learn a great deal from their peers and enjoy sharing mutual experiences.

Snowball and Reach

Help! I need somebody...

Recognizing Each Others Ability to Choose a Healthy Lifestyle or "REACH" encourages students to stay drug and alcohol free. Reach works along with the Deerfield police in a program called DARE to help keep grade school children aware drugs by educating them to their affects and downfalls. Snowball also encourages a drug and alcohol free lifestyle. Snowball includes both Deerfield and Highland Park students in weekend retreats that are intended to build lasting relationships. Often Snowball weekends are a time for self reflection and self understanding. There is also a chance for participants to give back and become Snowball staff members. Most importantly, Snowball and Reach give support to those who want to live healthy lifestyles.

GIMA, TUMBLERS Women Who Make A Difference DANCE TROUPE

Throughout the year, the girls in GIMA have been very busy planning and working on different events. The girls made signs for all of the fall athletes to cheer them onto a Homecoming victory. Then, the focus turned to Mr. DHS. This year, there was a lot of controversy surrounding the pageant, but GIMA raised over a thousand dollars for the Starlight Foundation. The co-chairs, Julie Yap, Carly Sobel, Melissa Spreckman, Sandi Kaplan, and the sponsor, Mrs. Berke, put a lot of effort into the show, and it was a success. Matt Noerper was named Mr. DHS 1999 due in part to his impressive karate routine. Women in Sports Day was also a great success, thanks to co-chairs Emily Berger and Tracy Watson. Over 200 student athletes attended, and listened to a wheelchair athlete. In March, GIMA's most important event happened. Turnabout co-chairs Laura Cunniff, Becky Singer and Sharon Bronstein and GIMA members worked many hours on turning the North Gym into a Tropical Paradise. Tumblers and Dance Troupe are clubs that are also sponsored by GIMA. The DHS Tumblers put on their annual show in the fall, demonstrating their tumbling and dancing abilities. These girls practiced after school for weeks before their show. Dance Troupe started the year off strong. The girls have enjoyed the many classes and guest artists that they were given the opportunity to take part in. In order for the girls raise money for costumes and guest artists, they sold pizzas during lunch and after school, sold baked goods, and sold hundreds of gourmet lollipops. In this year's show the girls were also given the honor to dance in pieces by professional dancers, Doug Woods and Tarah Brown. In the surrounding pictures are GIMA members, Mr. DHS committee, Bryan Goldberg, Larry Serota, Dru Fleming, Topher Soya, Matt Noerper, Alon Schwartz, Ian Marks, Barry Horwitz, co-chairs Julie Yap, Carly Sobel, Melissa Spreckman, and Sandi Kaplan.

POM PONS

Before the 1999- 2000 season, the Pom Pon Squad attended NCA pom camp at the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee. To raise money for camp, the Poms had their annual car wash at St. Gregory's. While at camp, the Pom Squad, trained with NCA dance instructors, learned new routines, and competed against three other squads. Their hard work and dedication paid off when they won first place in all events, including most admired squad. Their success has continued throughout the entire season. Whether it was a cold and rainy football game or a packed, Friday night game, these girls have performed their very best routines to the many fans. The Pom Squad have enjoyed their Pom sisters, team dinners, and spending time with one another throughout the year.

This year's squad was different from those of the past. This year's squad was co-ed for the first time ever. The cheer squad was much improved this year due to the fact that they went to a week long instructional camp. The camp, ran by UCA cheerleaders, gave the squad correct methods in performing the "stunts" better. The cheer squad practiced four times a week almost every week, which brought them closer together as a squad. The squad had guest coaches come in to teach new stunts as well as improve the old ones. Some of the guests include the Stevenson High School cheerleaders as well as a former head coach from Stevenson. Another event that promoted team unity was the Fourth of July Parade in Deerfield.

Varsity Club, Swim Guard, Student Athletic Trainers, Water Polo

There are many clubs at DHS designed to encourage healthy lifestyles and the enjoyment of physical activity. The Varsity Club is open to all varsity athletes. It organizes activities throughout the year including the Special Olympics at DHS. The Student Athletic Trainers work alongside the professional trainer in the Athletic Department. They have an opportunity to learn firsthand how to aid different athletes. Their help is greatly appreciated. Swim Guard members enjoy sharing their swimming expertise. On Saturday mornings, members provide swim lessons to the children of the Deerfield Community. Water Polo is a sport that is enjoyed by many students at Deerfield High School.

FOOTBALL

The football team had a rough season, but it was a season full of hard work and determination. As one coach said, "as metal sharpens metal, one man sharpens another." The long practices led to a definite improvement by the end of the season. The highlight of the season was the victory over Maine East. The team gave one hundred percent and it showed through the score. But, winning is not everything. As junior Jon Chester said, "Its great just to be able to sit around with a group of guys and be able to make a complete fool of yourself. We all had a lot of fun." With a new coach and a team full of talented underclassmen, more victories are assured BEYOND 2000.

The 1999 season was a season of improvement. It started our rough, but things turned around quickly. The varsity team beat Highland Park, which was one of the most exiting victories of the year. Ryan Levy, a Junior, was their leading scorer. The team's two seniors, Anthony DiClementi and Jim Rosenfeld really led the team. As the goalie, Rosenfeld led the defensive end of the team while DiClementi led the offense. The team will definitely suffer a loss with out them here next year. However, players from the sophomore team will move up and fill their spaces. Junior, Yoni Pogofsky said, "Our team had a good bond. We all miss the practices and games after school." Junior, Houston Harvey added, "The two coaches, Mr.Grady and Mr. Huson, really worked with us hard and led us to our victories." The team will see many more victories BEYOND 2000!

BOY'S GOLF

As usual, the boy's golf team had an impressive season. Overall the varsity team won nine out of their twelve regular season matches, with an average score of 149. At the end of the season, the varsity team placed second in conference and fourth at regional competition. Sophomore Kevin Shimer was the conference champion, showing a strong future for the Deerfield team. The Frosh/Soph team was third in conference with an average team score of 160 points. These talented underclassmen will continue to win BEYOND 2000.

Cross country is a sport that binds a group of people together. They run together, push each other, support each other, and eat together. Why do they run? They run because it's what they do, and they love doing it. Cross Country is pure guts and its hard to hold out for the glory. This year, the team was extremely talented. They were lead by sophomore Erika Odlaug who had a great year. Senior Ellie Nick and junior Jenny Eck also brought in fast times for the Warriors. Senior Jessica Herrmann summed up the psychology of a runner with a quote, "It's like fighting a gorilla, you don't stop when you get tired, you stop when the gorilla gets tired." The Warriors will continue to be successful BEYOND 2000.

GIRL'S GOLF

The girl's golf team had an extraordinary season and it ended accordingly. The team, as well as individual players, were victorious. Senior Carrie Baizer won eighth place at the state competition. Another senior, Janie Dim, competed at the state meet and received thirty-ninth place out of one hundred and thirty players. The team, led by Coach Mandel, won third place in conference and fifth in the region. The hard work that the girls put forth paid off in the end. All though the team is losing several seniors, including Baizer and Dim, it will continue to be victorious BEYOND 2000.

FIELD HOCKEY

The 1999 season was a season of hope for the "Flick Chicks." After the arrival of the new varsity coach, Julie Lind, the team was inspired to greatness. The varsity team, led by captains Joanna Friedman, Diane Herbstman, and Ali Stone, won more games this season than in the past, a sign of improvement for the future. The junior varsity team also greatly improved. This was the first time that DHS had two JV teams, which will help to build a strong program for the future. The JV teams, which learned a lot from the 3 month season, were led by captains Jen Gzesh, Michelle Litteken, and Jaclyn Miller. Although nine seniors will graduate, there are many younger players to take their places and be successful BEYOND 2000.

This year's girl's volleyball team was incredibly successful. The team, led by captains Emily Vanderkamp, Casey Christenson, and Ashley Johnson, went farther in competition than anyone expected them to, and than the team had done in the past ten years. The girls did very well at regionals, winning three games against a team that went to state. These players are extremely talented and have been playing together since junior high. Even though six seniors are graduating in the spring, including All-Conference Christenson, there are many talented sophomores and juniors to fill their places and continue to win BEYOND 2000.

TENNIS

This year was another strong season for the tennis team. The team was led by the three seniors and co-captains, Brittany Johnson, Chelsea Kammerer, and Loren Silvertrust. The girls dedicated themselves to every practice throughout the fall, creating a winning team. It was more than winning, it was about team work. "Our teammates were really supportive and helped each other through the season," said Shana Lichtenstein. The season ended with the state tournament in which several Deerfield players participated. Even though graduation will leave the team without three talented players, there are many skilled underclassmen that are up to the challenge. The girl's tennis team will be victorious once again Beyond 2000.

GIRLS' SWIMMING & DIVING

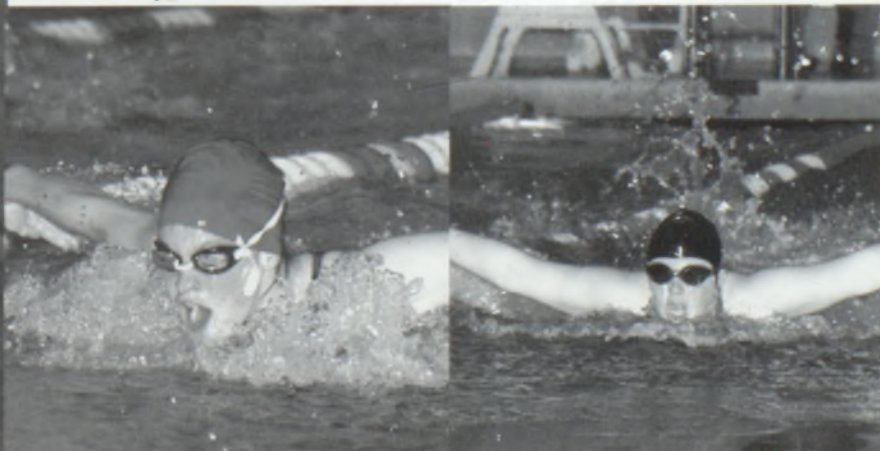

"This year was an interesting change, but we came together and were very successful," said Emily Ori and Ali Goldstien when describing this years girl's swimming and diving season. The year was definetly successful, placing second in conference and fourth at sectionals. Since the girls practice almost five hours a day together, they grew very close. "Girl's swimming 1999 was a lot of fun and we overcame diversity to accomplish our goals," said senior Jill Mitchell. Along with Mitchell, eight other seniors will graduate, including captains Sarah Frauman, Stefanie Starck, and Easten Higgins. However there are many talented juniors to continue to be victorious BEYOND 2000.

BOYS' SWIMMING & DIVING

This year was a big improvement for the boys' swimming and diving teams. Months of long, hard work paid off at conference, where the team placed third. The majority of the team will be competing in sectionals. Team co-captains Craig Mylenbusch and Peter Brendemier fired up the team for the big meet. Mylenbusch, a senior, placed second in the 50 meter free style with a time of 23.8 seconds. Mylenbusch was also part of the second place 200 meter free style relay team with other swimmers John Higgins, Matt Boote, and Ben Abrams. Abrams, sophomore, received first place in the 100 meter fly, an excellent sign for the future of warrior swimming. At the other end of the pool, Corey Wallace, junior, placed sixth in diving, after taking last year off. Even though the team is losing 5 seniors, the warriors will continue swimming to victory BEYOND 2000.

This year's wrestling team experienced great success due to the efforts all team members. The team placed seventh at the regional competition with a score of 41 points, an impressive feat. Tom Jordan, junior, competed in regionals carrying a 25-8 record and placed second in the 275 pound weight class. Jim Sinkovitz, junior, also took a second place title in the 160 pound weight class. Phil Abraham, junior, placed fourth and barely missed the cut for the sectional competition. The Deerfield High School community was very proud of all the wrestling awards and victories. The strong team was led by seniors Topher Soya and Justin Steibel. There was a great deal of enthusiasm and team work present throughout the season. The wrestlers worked hard for all of their accomplishments. Next year's team is guaranteed just as much success with Jordan, Sinkovitz, and Abraham returning to the mat as seniors. In addition, there are many promising underclassman who will be a key part of next year's squad BEYOND 2000.

BOYS' BASKETBALL

The boys' basketball team improved a lot this year. Jason Kaplan proved to be a leader as he led the team in points, rebounds per game, and field goal percentage. Danny Haughney also proved his skill as he led the team in assists. The team was second in conference, their only losses to Niles North and Maine West. The team's strength was its good defense and great teamwork. All the players were extremely talented, which led to a strong bench and great starters. Coach Pappas worked with each player and used all of their strengths. This made a well-rounded, victorious team. Furthermore, the team was very experienced with ten seniors and three juniors. However, with plenty of sophomores, the team is sure to continue winning even BEYOND 2000.

This was another successful year for the girls' basketball team. Many younger, talented players were moved up to the varsity level. The youngest player on the team, Meggie Eck, received great recognition for her skill, as well as being a freshman. Other stars were seniors Stephanie Handler, for her defense, and Chelsea Kammerer, for her great 3 point shot. The team had a tight bond and everyone got along extremely well. The season was incredibly intense for the players. The first time DHS played Highland Park, a rival, the warriors won. The Giants came back with a vengeance, but the warrior pulled off a win with a lead of just one point. The game against GBN, the conference rival, was just as intense. But, the warrior girls came through triumphant once again. The team is losing 5 seniors, but with a talented group of juniors and underclassmen, the warriors are guaranteed to continue their reign BEYOND 2000.

GYMNASTICS

The DHS Gymnastics team had an impressive season. The team through hard work and difficult practices continued their victorious run by once again winning the conference championship, defeating rival Glenbrook North. In addition, to the team victory many individuals distinguished themselves. Lindsey Blanas, junior, won the All Around while Jenny Zabinsky, junior, came in a close second. The girls further dominated the competition by almost sweeping the individual events, with the exception of bars. Senior Jenn Burt won first place on floor for the fourth year in a row. Senior Bari Levine took fifth place on vault All Around, and sixth place on the beam. The team will suffer a great loss when both Burt and Levine graduate, but juniors Lindsey Blanas, Jenny Zabinsky, Brittany Yoelin will be sure to triumph over the competition BEYOND 2000.

Senior remember when...

Can any senior forget his first day of high school? The excitement, the anticipation, the nervous knot at the bottom of our stomachs. We spent hours thinking about what outfit to wear, how to make the best first impression. We dreamed of the new friends we would make, and worried about the additional homework.

High school was the promised land, different from junior high. And for many of us Deerfield High School gave us just what we were expecting, an academic challenge and memories that will last a lifetime. For many of us freshman year was the most exciting year of high school. Who can forget the first Homecoming, Turnabout, or School Chest they participated in? Who can forget the excitement of a new school or the fear that you might get lost in one of the hallways? The seniors seemed so old and we all looked up to our gym leaders and senior advisors. We thought that we would never be that old, that we would forever attend Deerfield High School. The notion of college was foreign. Living anywhere but Deerfield? Our minds were boggled by the proposition. So what happened in these last four years? How have we grown and changed as individuals and how have we grown and changed as a graduating class?

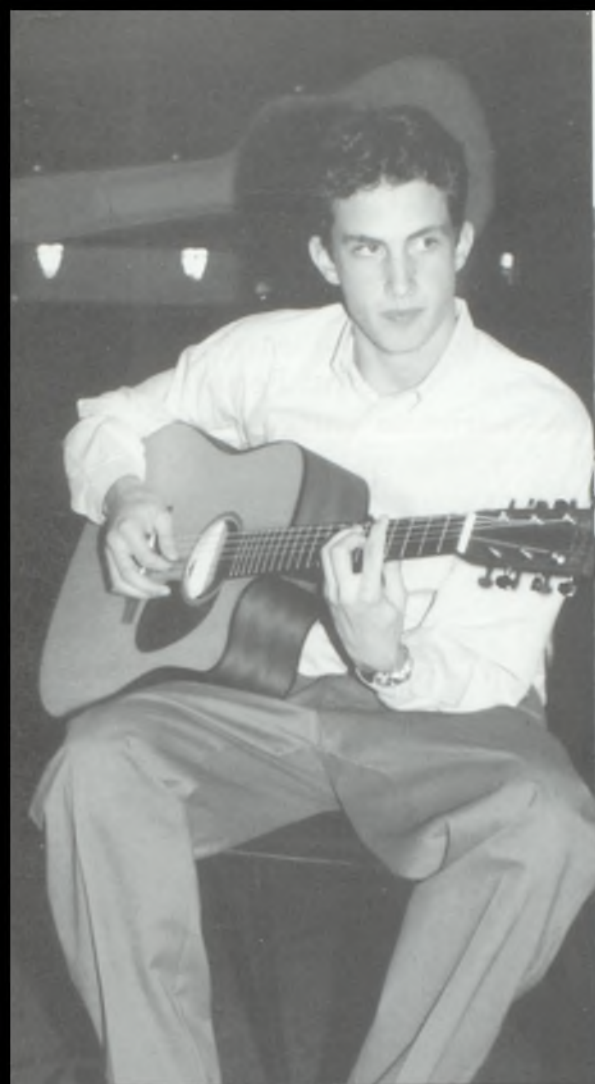

We are no longer

as innocent as we once were but rather approach our future with an open mind. We are ready for what lies ahead, ready for any challenge that we must face. As we count the last few days before graduation, we look back and smile. We have spent both good and bad times at Deerfield High School but deep down we know that we couldn't be the people we are today without it. As we look at our fellow classmates receiving their diplomas at Ravinia, our minds will be filled with mixed emotions. We have spent four years with these people and, as strange as it may seem, it is unlikely that we will keep up with many of them. We are embarking by ourselves, forging a new journey. This trip will be the one we take alone as we are creating our own lives and our own future. But no matter how far we go or how different we become, we will always share the four years we have spent at Deerfield High School. It will be the glue that binds us together and will continually remind us of our memories and accomplishments even

Just a brick in the wall can never exist,
For a wall would be nothing without every brick.

The many form one, a union of hearts,
The whole gaining something from each of its parts.

Opportunity calls the children of this land,

“Live Full,
Think Big,
Smile Wide,

Lend a Hand,

Believe in yourself,
and you’ll never fall,

Dare to make the most of your brick in the wall!”

DEERFIELD HIGH SCHOOL

Tracy Jacobson, Editor-In-Chief

We've been planning a way to make our senior yearbook special from freshman year on, but you really helped to make things come together. Your constant search for unique spreads, including the dating spread, in all your college literature was just what we needed. You could always come up with the best copy to fill any page. Your dedication and positive attitude made media production a productive and fun environment to work in. Although we had many problems, we all managed to stay friends. We still have to change the mailboxes!

Sarah Mick, Editor-In-Chief

From freshman class editor to editor-in-chief, you have helped to bring comic relief to our sometimes monotonous Media Production periods. Your smile and intriguing stories always kept us amused. Congratulations! This yearbook is far better than we expected, partly due to your efforts and dedication. You always kept the mood light even when many of us (some people in particular) were freaking out. Keep in touch next year...you are definitely one of our favorite O*YAD Animals!

Christine Kelly, Managing Editor

To our creator of the O*YAD Zoo! We never got around to putting a live fish in our favorite person's mailbox. Oh well, there's always next year and plenty of Deerprints editors to harass. Even though you thought you had a lot of power, we were wondering, what exactly is a Managing Editor? Thanks for all of your hard work and for your famous cropping abilities! Don't forget all of your organizational skills!

Laura Cunniff, Copy Editor

Have you ever heard of a copy editor who never wrote any copy? No, just kidding. You did a great job editing our faulty copy and keeping us "positive". We enjoyed watching your lunch gradually change from ordinary sub sandwiches to healthy bagels! Thanks for all the extra work you put in. You are a sweet, kind, patient person...trust us, you'll lose it next year. No, no. Best of luck with the 2000-2001 edition.

Jamie Brown, Art and Layout Editor

You are our Computer Goddess! Without your talents this year we would never have been able to get the yearbook off the ground! Your consistent dedication, hard work, and kind spirit were an inspiration to all of us! Hopefully, you'll come back next year (what would we do without you?).

Other Thanks and Staff:

Julie Yap did a great job on senior tributes, Michelle Litteken was hardworking and did an amazing job with the sports section, Laura Benedict and Kasey Chertack were awesome about the organizations section, Jamie Riegelhaupt helped us out a lot with both the senior section, senior tributes, and the index, Alex Brunk and Beth Autrey put in a lot of time doing the junior section, Shira Wenig offered a great deal of help on numerous spreads including our Chicago and weekends section (thanks for all of your interesting pictures!), Ryan Jacobson did a wonderful job with the freshman section and really proved himself as a dedicated worker, Zack Laks spent a lot of time helping out, and Alison DeFrank took some wonderful pictures. Most importantly, thanks to Ms. Dorigan, Ms. Pataky and Ms. Haravon. They put so much effort into the production of this yearbook! Thanks for a great year, DHS!!! Good luck to all of next year's EDITORS!!!
