WDHS is a great hand-on experience for the future stars of Deerfield High School. Most Fridays during the homeroom period the "Warrior Wake-Up" airs, which informs students of Sporting news, school sponsored events, and other segments that keep the students days at DHS exciting. The students involved in WDHS perform all tasks required to finish their weekly show. Students edit film, shoot footage, and produce the entire show to how they want it. WDHS is a great opportunity for those interested in tellevision and production to gain knowledge and experience of how a show is made.

Deerprints is the award-winning student newspaper at DHS. The entire staff, comprised of thirteen editors as well as writers and photographers, works hard to create a newspaper every month. The paper focuses on local issues and school interests in the form of stories, artwork, columns, political cartoons, and photos. Every subject discussed is designed to specifically interest the diverse student body. Deerprints is a reflection of the individuality and varied nature of the high school community. Those involved with Deerprints are very dedicated to their product. The editors and many of the staff members meet during 1st and 4th periods to discuss news issues, read papers, and create Deerprints. With their teacher advisor, Shari Kellogg, and their business advisor, David Hiegel, the Deerprints staff produces a newspaper that is a source of pride at DHS.

The freshmen advisory program has been key in helping the freshmen transition into the high school environment. The seniors who take on this immense task go through a rigorous application process their junior year to be accepted in the program. Once initiated, seniors help the freshman and their teacher advisors lead discussions in the classroom, find their way around the school, and advise their students on the life that high school will hold for them.

Sewing Club is a blast. From early in the year, the students learn different sewing techniques. Sewing Club members put their sewing expertise to work by making all sorts of things, from clothing to pillows, they do it all. Sewing Club participates in Operation Glass Slipper, which old prom dresses are donated, and then fixed, to be used by those less fortunate. They use their time to give back through their unique sewing talents, and bond together throughout the year. The skills these students learn in Sewing Club can be used for the rest of their lives.

Many students opt to take O*YAD as a class that meets every day, but for those who can't spare a period of their day, O*YAD meets on Wednesdays afterschool under the guidance of Mr. Herb Regan and Mr. John McDonald.

Troubadour is Deerfield High School's annual publication which displays the student population's creative abilities. Short stories, poems, artwork, and other creative pieces are published and released in May every year. Students in Troubadour review every piece of submitted work and decide which pieces will best represent the abilities of the DHS students. The best pieces are selected and published for the whole school to see.

Mathletes consists of students who excel in math and problem solving skills. They compete among 55 high schools belonging to the North Suburban Math League of Illinois. Five high schools compete against one another in each of the four meets held once a month throughout the year. There are four written exams, one for each level from freshmen to seniors, an individual oral presentation, and a candy bar contest at each competition. Up to five contestants at each level intensely endeavor to solve five challenging questions on the written exam hoping to get the perfect 25 points. The oral presentation is a nerve wrecking experience where an individual has 10 minutes to present the most eloquent solutions to three problems to two judges in order to receive the top score of 50 points. Candy bar contest brings all levels together to collaborate on a 20-question test. Even though it doesn't count towards the overall team score, students are eagerly motivated to win for the obvious reason - food! Awards are given to individuals with perfect scores, top oralist, and to the winning team at each level. At their 5th and final conference meet, over 1000 students from all 55 schools came together at Evanston for the final showdown.

After conference Mathletes also competes at the regional level and, if they qualify, the state finals. In the past two years, the whole team qualified for the state finals held at the University of Illinois in Urbana-Champaign. Mathletes members look forward to having another successful year.

SAGA is the Deerfield High School Straight and Gay Alliance. SAGA exists with the intent to promote acceptance of all people regardless of sexual orientation and to create a safe environment for all students. At meetings, SAGA discusses issues concerning Straight and Gay unity in our school and community. Activities consist of watching videos concerning the topic discussed and raising funds through a variety of school events. At SAGA, members are not expected to divulge their orientation. Students are free to share what they would like. SAGA is a comforting, welcoming environment for everybody.

Swim Guard, a group of DHS students created to teach swim lessons and learn life-guarding skills, allows students to interact with parents and children in a low-stress environment. Exciting races, involving canoe-racing without paddles, make Swim Guard more enjoyable. The ten Saturday commitment allows students to participate in an organization, yet retain their own schedule, and manage their own time. The lessons with Learn To Swim students, allow teenagers to interact with younger elementary school-aged students. Swim Guard is a great opportunity to learn new teaching skills, and to participate with your peers in a way that affects the whole community.

Children and parents agree that Deer Park, DHS' on-site child care program, is a great part of our school. Teachers and community members bring their children to Deer Park for intellectual, physical, social, and emotional development, and of course FUN! Child development classes teach art, science, and cooking as well as help the children write stories and tend the garden on the playground. Every day in the center is filled with learning and excitement for the child development students and Deer Park Friends.

Earthworks is a great opportunity to get involved with school and the environment. Each year members walk in the homecoming parade, take a kayaking trip, clean up nearby beaches, and participate in Adopt a Highway. Earlier this year, members helped cut down the overgrown buckthorn near the back forty that was interrupting the growth of other plants. Student Council is the ultimate way to get involved through an organization here at DHS. Each year, Student Council, and its members take part in a variety of charity and fundraising events. This year, along with their intense work with the Children's Heart Foundation, Student Council took part in Operation Home, arranging the Homecoming Dance, and North Suburban Blood Drive. Smaller fundraisers include flower sales, and pizza and candy sales. Student Council members each have a homeroom in which they deliver announcement of school happenings and raise money. Student Council meets weekly. It is a great opportunity to make a difference, represent your student body, and change the lives of people along the way.

No one care how much you know, until they know how much you care. School Chest is time for everyone to show how much they can do to make a difference. This year, The Children's Heart Foundation was the chosen recipient for the money that was raised. When Deerfield High School students learned of the tremendous circumstances of many of the patients, our hearts truly were touched. This may explain why we, as a school raised the most money in the history of School Chest$118,018.37!!!! The dedication of the money to The Children's Heart Foundation showed DHS what we can achieve, when we care.

Talents were anything from dancing, singing, to performing magic. Following their talents, the guys were asked various questions in which they had to deliberate to the crowd and the judges with little time to think. After the participants performed their talent and answered their question the judges came to the decision that Ben Hewitt was the winner. Hewitt danced to various songs with his partner Erik Nomitch. If you want the opportunity to design, build, and launch your own rocket Deerfield Air and Space Association (DASA) is the place for you. DASA gives students the chance to express their creative side through the art of rocket making. Members first sketch out plans for their rockets. Then they begin constructing designs by using their personal knife kit and wood. Once the rockets structure is completed students begin painting the outside of the rocket. Students also choose the perfect size for their rocket. DASA members are proud of the end result since each rocket reflects the maker. The highlight of their experiences is testing their rockets and comparing the various heights.

Those who have previously excelled in a class are recommended by their past teachers to help a student who is currently in need of help in the same class. The tutor and the tutee meet twice a week and work on assignments and/or review material. At the end of the year the tutee have improved their understanding and their grade, and the tutors have the gratification of knowing they've helped out their fellow peers!

The Deerfield Model United Nations Club (DMUN) attends college sponsored conferences that simulate the United Nations in New York City. Students from all over the world participate so our members get to argue, debate, and solve problems while making international friends and having fun. In December, Deerfield's Model U.N. team attended the Harvard conference in Boston as the country of Venezuela, and in February Deerfield's Model U.N. team they competed in the University of Chicago's Model U.N. representing the country of Chile. The Challenge for members of Model U.N. is to understand and think like a person from the country they represent, while using diplomacy to solve crises.

Senior Gym Leaders Leading the Way

Sponsor: Gayle Luehr

Senior Gym leaders is a great way for upperclassmen to become involved in the lives of underclassmen. This program places two to three seniors who underwent the PE leaders class their junior year, to help out in freshman and sophomore gym classes. Seniors leaders help out the gym teachers by leading activities, refereeing games, instructing students on rules and techniques, and sometimes filling in for missing students during a sport. Senior Leaders are more than a helping hand for a teacher, but students are chosen so they can be role models for the undreclassmen to look up to and succeed in high school.

Stage Crew is a group of students who help with the technical aspects of a performance. Students work in small group that help in differing elements of the production. Students, build and paint sets, arrange the lighting for a performance, create or alter costumes, build props, set up sound equipment, and much more. These students in Stage Crew work year round, and without their dedication, many performances would not occur.

The athletic trainers are the backbone of all sports. They assist in helping athletes perform to their physical best by mending the broken bones, sprains, pulls, and tears of the body. Their job entails not only being in the office pre-game, but being on the sidelines as well, actively helping all players perform their best. The student trainers who help out during games and volunteer during the day in the P.E.R.C. learn to tape wrists and ankles, and learn to help the athletes come back into full strength after an injury occurs to ensure a full recovery. Their warrior spirit enhanced by their caring nature towards others makes these particular students the symbol of Deerfield warrior pride for all sports.

Robotics, called Warbots, is a newer organization at Deerfield High School. From its start, it has competed in two FIRST (For Inspiration and Recognition of Science and Technology) Midwest Regionals, and reached the final rounds of both competitions. Through problem-solving and hard work, they were able to design and build their robot in six weeks. The competition this year was to shoot balls through either a corner, or top goal, to score points in a game much like a combination of basketball and soccer. Though many different people were on the team, the uniting sense of purpose, and devotion that teammates showed to each other, present just how important the competition is.

Their discussions are able to deal with these issues, and through them they are able to reach a consensus about how they should help their community with the problems it faces. This diverse group of students is able to read deeply into books, and find the author's message and apply it to their life.

Dance Company is one of Deerfield's many dance groups in school. Dance Company works throughout the year in getting ready their annual spring performance. These girls work extremely hard in all areas of dance: ballet, jazz, and modern dance. This year Melanie Gutman and Samantha Rice were selected to perform at the Illinois State Dance festival for the choreography of 'Breaking Point'. All of the girls work hard toward a common goal that is shown with flying colors at their final performance. Each girl brings an amazing talent that when put together the final performance is unforgettable.

During their time throughout the year, members are working towards the end of the year show that takes place in the spring. Theatrix meets once a week in the Studio Theatre during early bird where you can hear the side-splitting laughter down the halls, infusing the school with much-needed good spirit.

Our Town, is the story of Grovers Corners, a small town in New Hampshire and the everyday lives of its citizens. It's message was to live everyday to the fullest and not to take advantage of the small things in life.

No props were used to help portray this. The Last Night of Ballyhoo is the story of a small town with a big tradition every year and how its characters look forward to it.

The fun characters and hilarious dialogue made this play a huge hit and allowed the audience walk away with a few lessons to be learned, especially the importance of family.

This stellar organization is for anyone and everyone who has an interest in being creative whether they have years of experience or none at all. Every Monday art club meets to free draw or to do a group activity, such as Exquisite Corpse, which is three separately drawn sections of a "body" randomly put together to create a piece of work by three artists. The results are sidesplitting and priceless. Art Club also draws from the human figure and makes drawings from a theme the group picks out (for example: love, hate, fear, generosity, purple or zebras). You might remember having seen the seasonal decorations that Art Club has made for the hallways of DHS (most notably Halloween). Art Club participates in the Celebration of the Arts every January by demonstrating talents of our students for all to see., Art club is an eclectic group that comes together once a week to have a good time and relax while letting their creativity flow.
